DEDICATION

As this school year draws to a close we shall lose, through retirement, one of our most beloved teachers. This loss will be felt greatly by students and faculty alike. She has had her own special way of making a so-called dead language really live. To her the credit goes for the organization of one of our most active and respected groups, Mary Case Club Future Teachers of America. As a past Student Council sponsor she had much to do with a program the entire school looks forward to, College-Vocational Day.

No teacher has been more actively interested in anything or anyone connected with Harding than our own Mrs. Clara Webb, to whom we proudly dedicate this, the 1957 ECHOES!

MRS. CLARA WEBB

The 1957 Echoes presents a record of expansions and important activities which makes Warren G. Harding truly a comprehensive high school catering to the needs and interests of all its students . . .

Published by the students of Warren G. Harding Senior High School, Warren, Ohio.

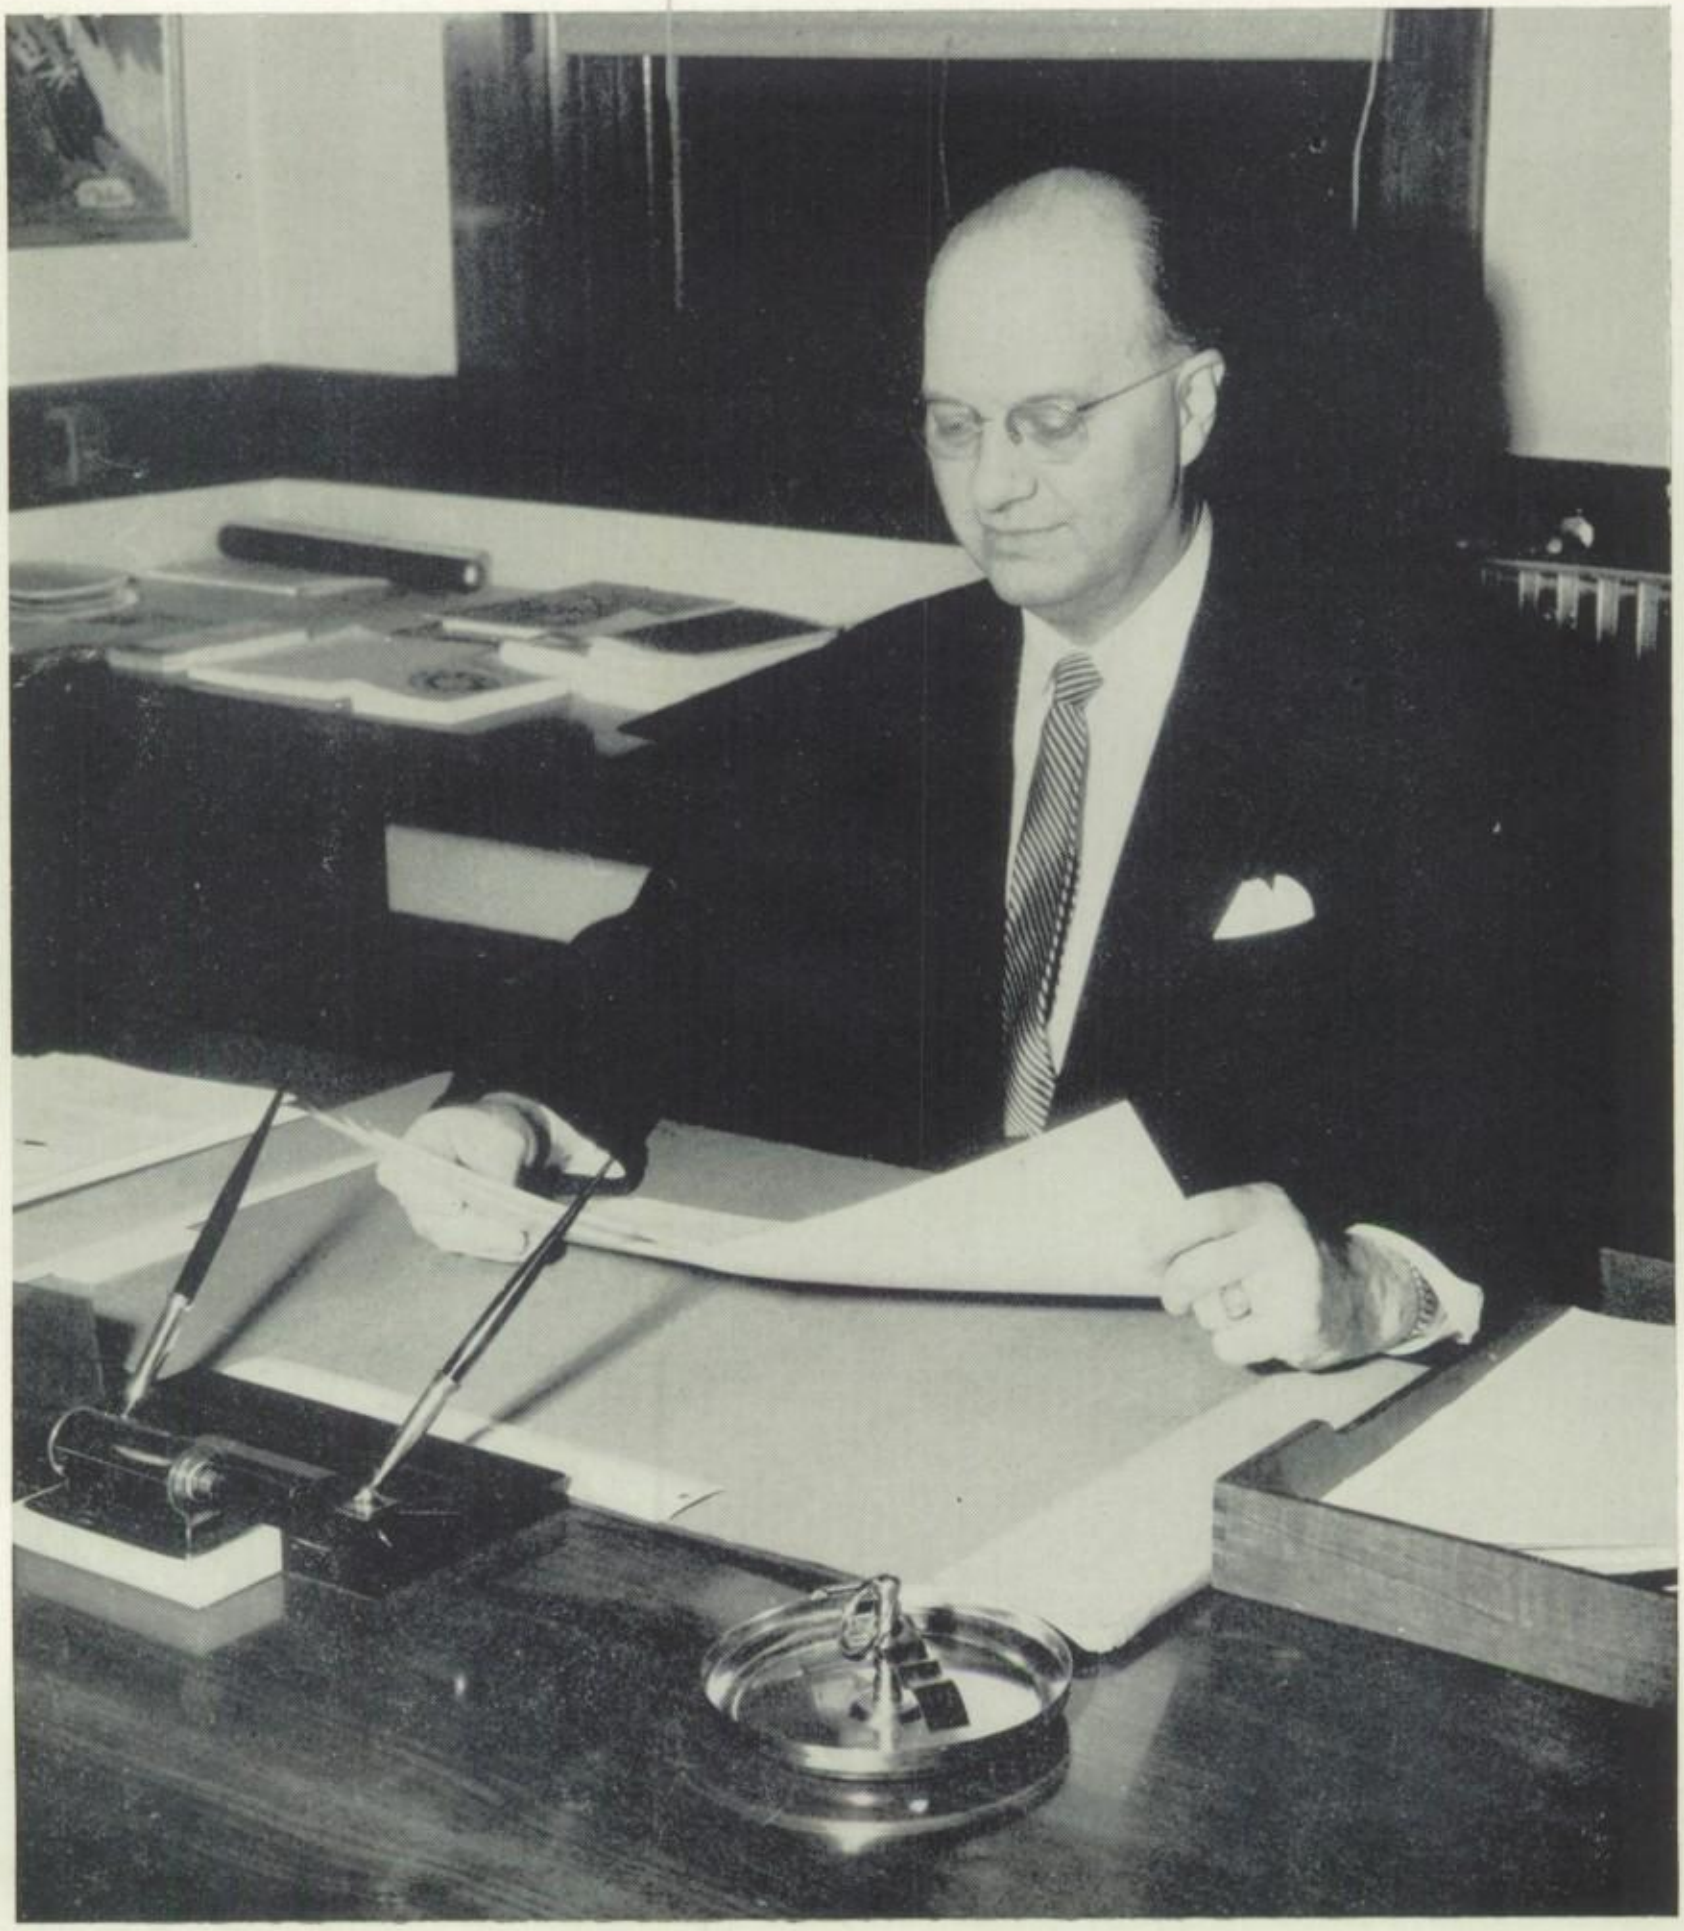
ADMINISTRATION

A modern school plan like Harding's fifty-seven classrooms, offices, clinic, three gyms, auditorium, cafeteria, library, conference room, two music rooms, eight shops and an extensive curriculum could only be developed through the efforts of a far-sighted administration and well-trained, versatile faculty members. Because of their work the city of Warren has one of the finest high schools in Ohio. We are very proud of our leaders and teachers.



CREATED BY SCHOOL LEADERS

Proving the old adage that it takes a strong foundation to make a worthwhile organization, Warren's school system is headed by two very capable men. Holding the position of superintendent is Sanford F. Jameson, under whose expert direction the expanded Harding with its many new features has been brought to completion.

STRIVING

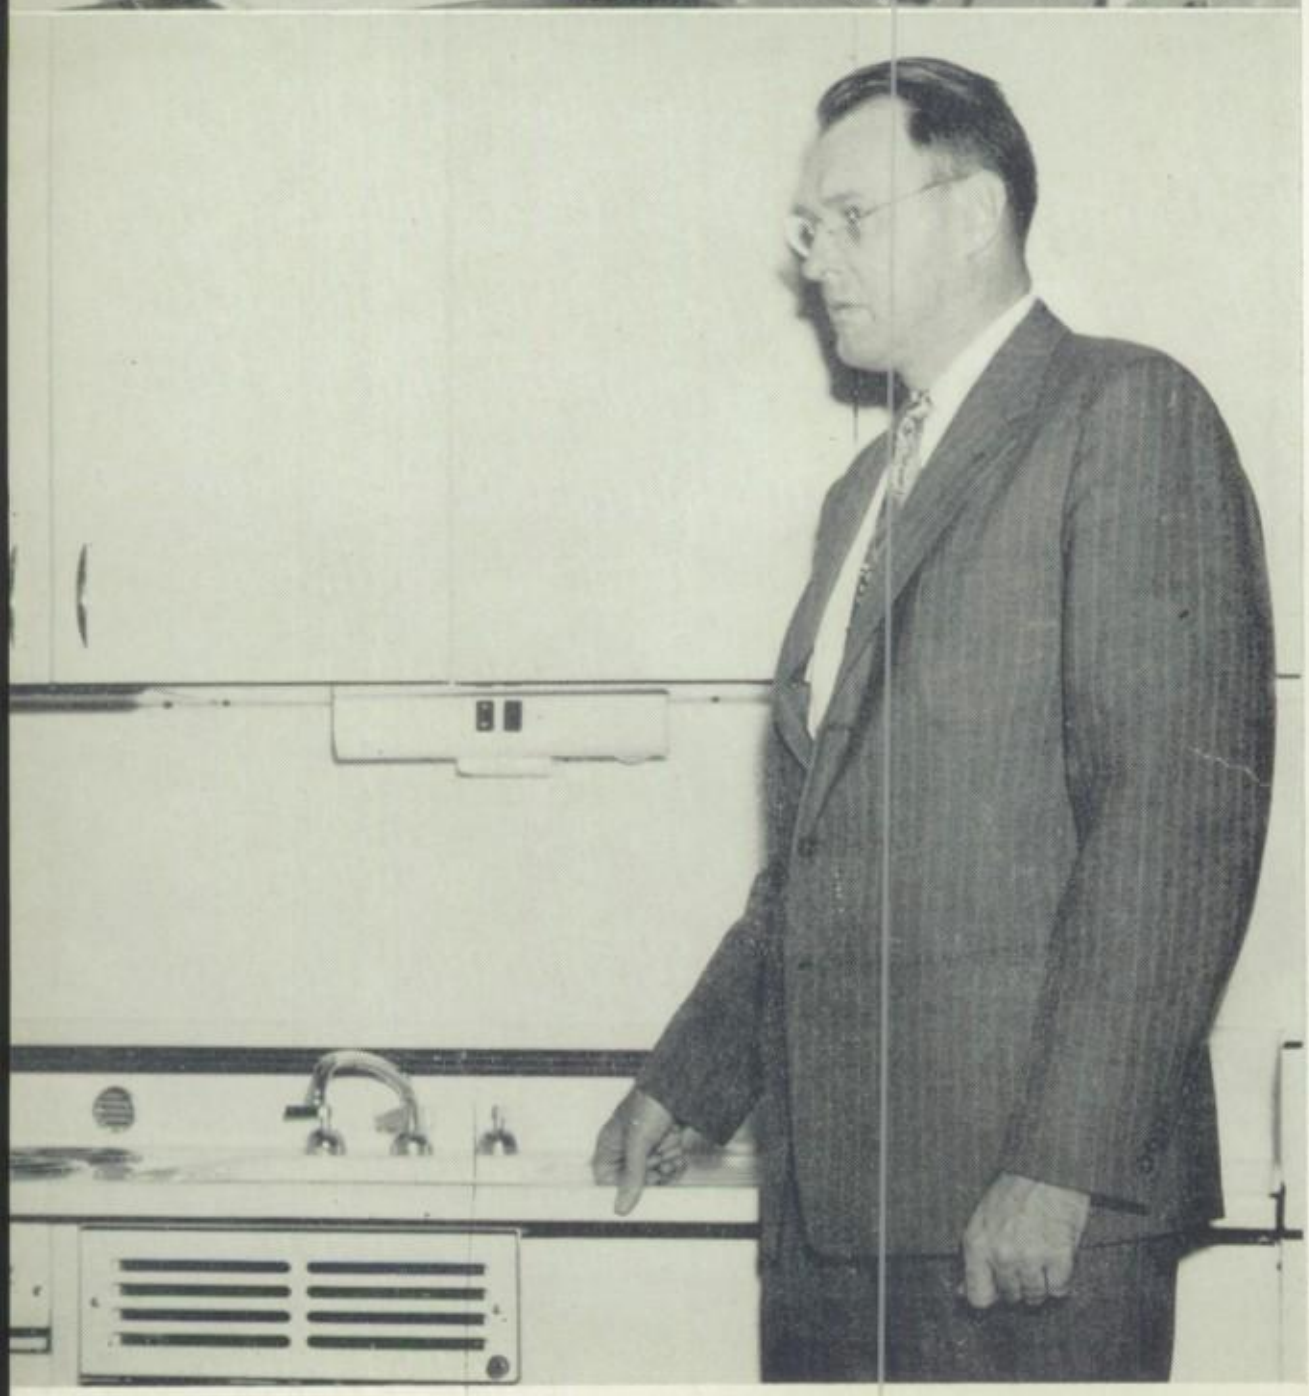
Also a very busy man is Dr. Robert Van Auken, the assistant superintendent, one of whose many jobs is to supervise the high school curriculum. The product of these men's efforts is an efficient program, which has been worked out with the co-operation of the community's spokesmen, the Board of Education members.

All set for a busy session are the Board of Education members: Oliver R. Jones, T. S. Long, president; George W. Secrest, Mrs. Esther Niemi, and Henry H. Alden.

CONSTANTLY, PATIENTLY

There is a certain indefinable quality about some people that makes them important to everyone with whom they come into contact. Such individuals are the principal and assistant principal of our school.

Communications is one of our principal's favorite hobbies, whether he realizes it or not. The new P. A. booth just gives him another source by which he can come into contact with every student and faculty member. This is something "M. Mollenkopf" is always striving for. He would like to know everyone personally and to be able to call all 1762 students by name. Though this feat is almost humanly impossible, "Molly" is able to be educator, advisor, and friend to all of us.



John Scharf, our assistant principal, has as one of his duties heading the extensive activities program which plays an important role in our school. He not only supervises but also takes an active part, as he is one of the sponsors of Skating Club. This year our students and Mr. Scharf have taken special pride in the new student activity room, which includes a modern kitchenette.

FOR HIGH SCHOOL YOUTH

Do you need help? Are you confused and unhappy? The doors to the offices of Louis Swart and Marie O'Rourke are open wide and a smile of welcome will always greet you. No problem is to small or too large for the deans to tackle. These two are the ones who contact ninth graders even before they enter the doors of Harding. The deans try to direct students toward the right target from the very beginning.

In addition to the tremendous job they have to do, they somehow find time to sponsor the National Honor Society and attend most of the social functions of the school.

A business can't get along without clerical workers and neither can a school. GERALDINE KERR, assistant librarian, looks over library accounts with MRS. FLORENCE GRIFFING, school treasurer. Discussing student records are GRACE CRAWFORD and MRS. MILDRED HUFFORD, while MRS. CHARLOTTE RIGGS demonstrates the switchboard to a newcomer, ANN CAUFFIELD.

CURRICULUM

Doctors, lawyers, secretaries, housewives, mechanics—all these people, as well as many more, must receive their "basic training" in the same high school. To help all our students prepare for their chosen careers, the curriculum includes many varied courses.

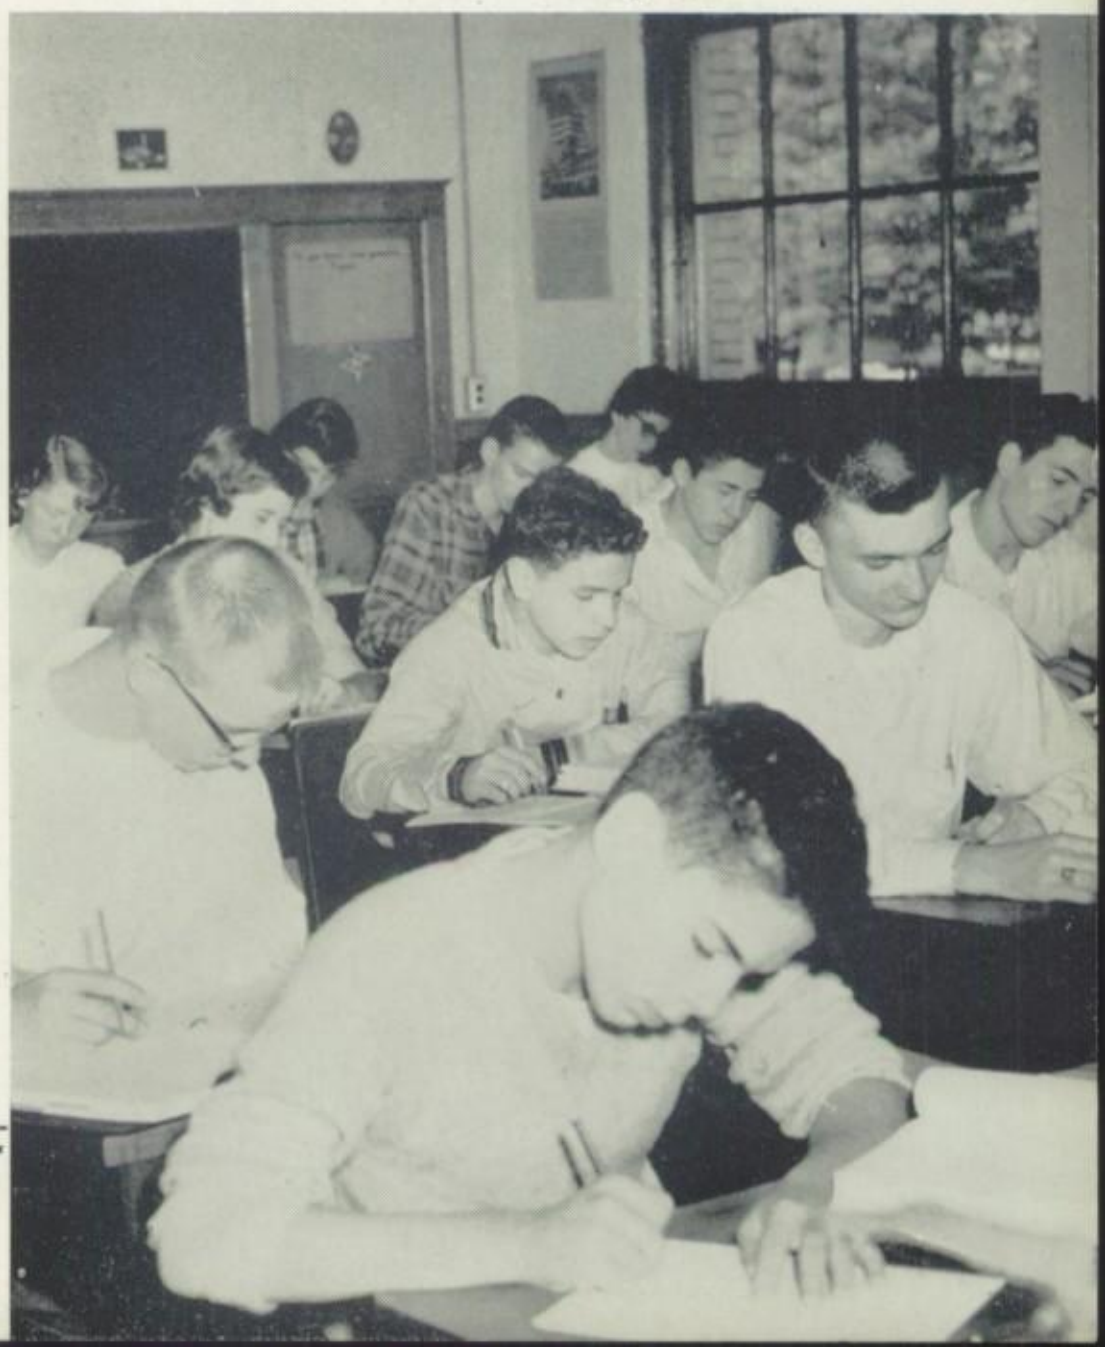
A new vocational wing offers courses in industrial arts to boys in tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades.

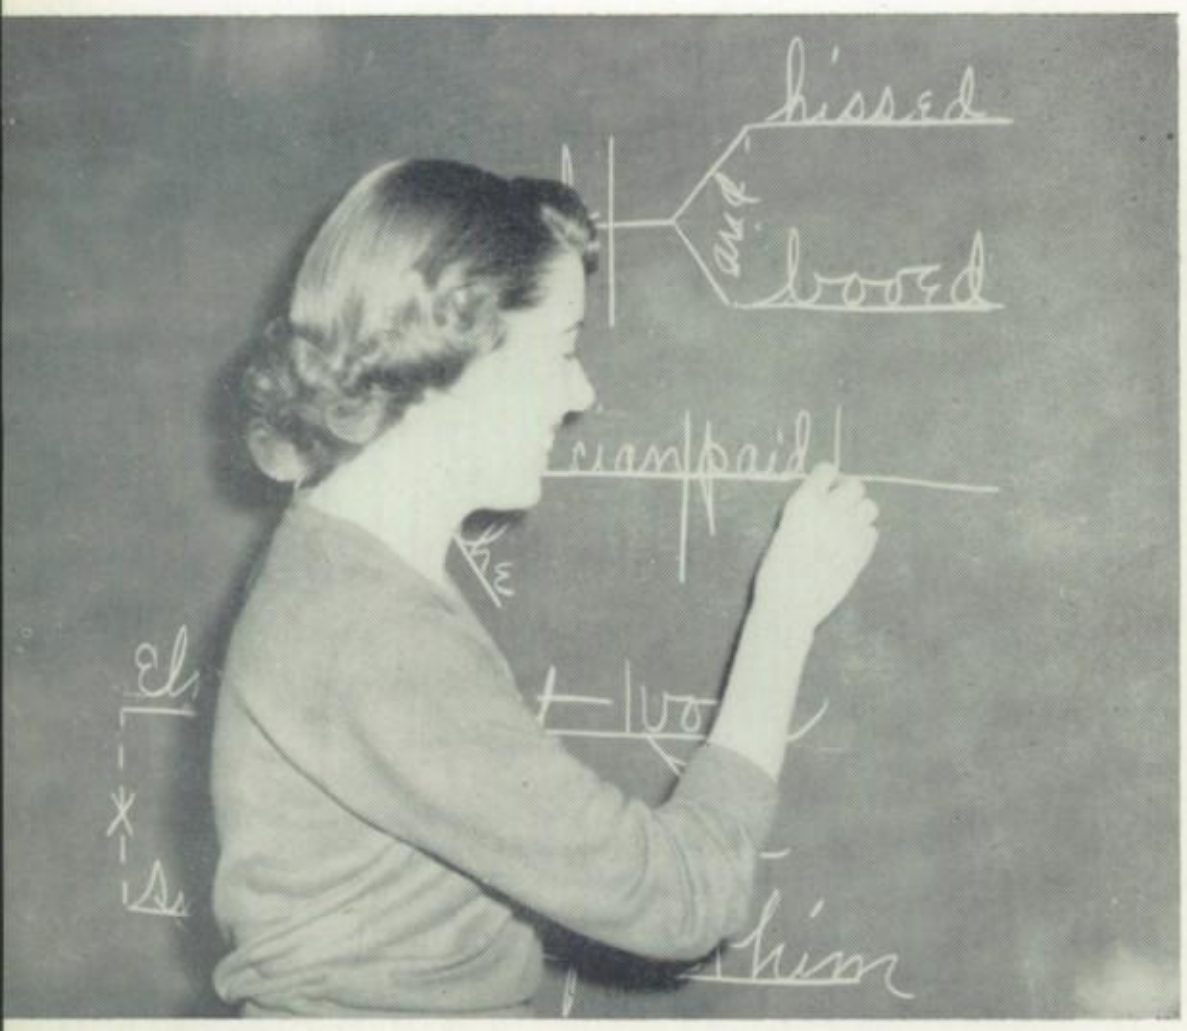
For students planning to continue their education, a college preparatory course is offered with special attention to mathematics, science, and languages.

In the business education wing courses are offered in secretarial science, bookkeeping, clerical procedures, and retail sales.

A well planned home economic curriculum offers students an opportunity to become proficient in the art of homemaking.

DOWN TO BUSINESS





Grammar, grammar, and more grammar, but we never seem to get enough.

"Direct object" and "compound predicate" lose their air of mystery when they are separated and put in clear and simple form for all to see.

Diagramming sentences on the board gives a better understanding of sentences and their construction.

The flag, costumes, and eating utensils of Japanese people were interesting topics for tenth graders in a correlated English-history class during a unit on Japan.

The "House of Seven Gables" becomes the object of intense study for eleventh grade American Literature classes.

A COURSE IN ENGLISH IS A MUST

No matter what our plans for the future may be, English is a must. Every tenth grader who comes to Harding is introduced to a teacher who guides him along the path of learning with special attention to such things as grammar, punctuation, and literature.

In eleventh grade, English courses take the form of American Literature in which the students become acquainted with the poetry and prose of our country.

A correlated class combines English with history, using reports and card indexes to illustrate lessons in both subjects.

In twelfth grade, students interested in secretarial and business courses may take English classes which specialize in these fields. English Literature is offered to twelfth graders who are college-bound or who desire a better cultural background.

BUT WE HAVE MANY CHOICES

In addition to required English courses, classes in which a student may find self-expression in writing and speaking are offered as electives.

Speech courses offer training in planning, writing, and giving speeches. A member in the second-year, advanced speech class is automatically a member of Speakers' Bureau. Members of this organization give speeches at public functions, such as P.T.O., as well as introducing and taking part in school programs.

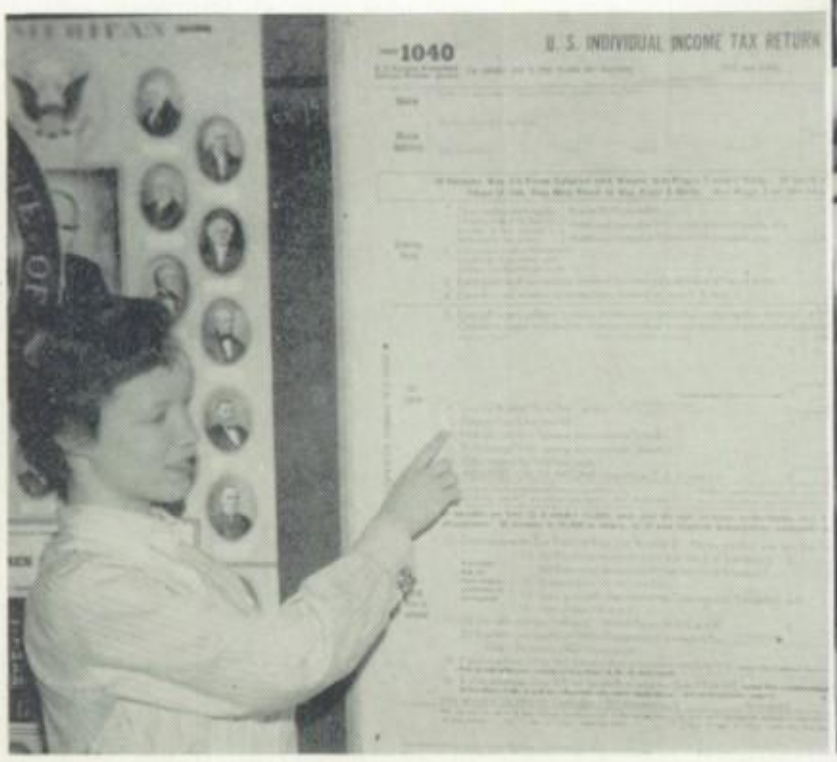
Dramatics class is available to any student who is interested in directing, staging, or acting. The teenagers participating in this class learn to pantomime and read monologues. They study current plays and playwrights, becoming familiar with the leading dramatists of today.

Journalism students learn many phases of newspaper work, such as typography, copyreading and newswriting. They also learn the business procedures connected with publications by selling advertisements and subscriptions. First-year students gain valuable experience by writing the "High Lights" column that appears in the Tribune every Friday. This experience is put to good use by those who continue through the second year of journalism and become responsible for editing the school newspaper, High Life.

"On the Air" holds more suspense for members of Speakers Bureau this year than ever before because of the realistic radio set-up in the new speech department. REAR—D. Rees, M. Littman, C. Smith, J. Griscott, R. Luscombe, L. Newman, H. Herman, Miss Barrick. SEATED—S. Barto, secretary; S. Huston, vice president; L. Lead, treasurer; L. McArthur, president; J. Lechleitner, historian.

Energetic journalists on their toes writing news stories for the Harding High Lights are: S. Kachner, S. Leach, M. Vasil and C. Vine, each of whom has taken her turn at being editor.

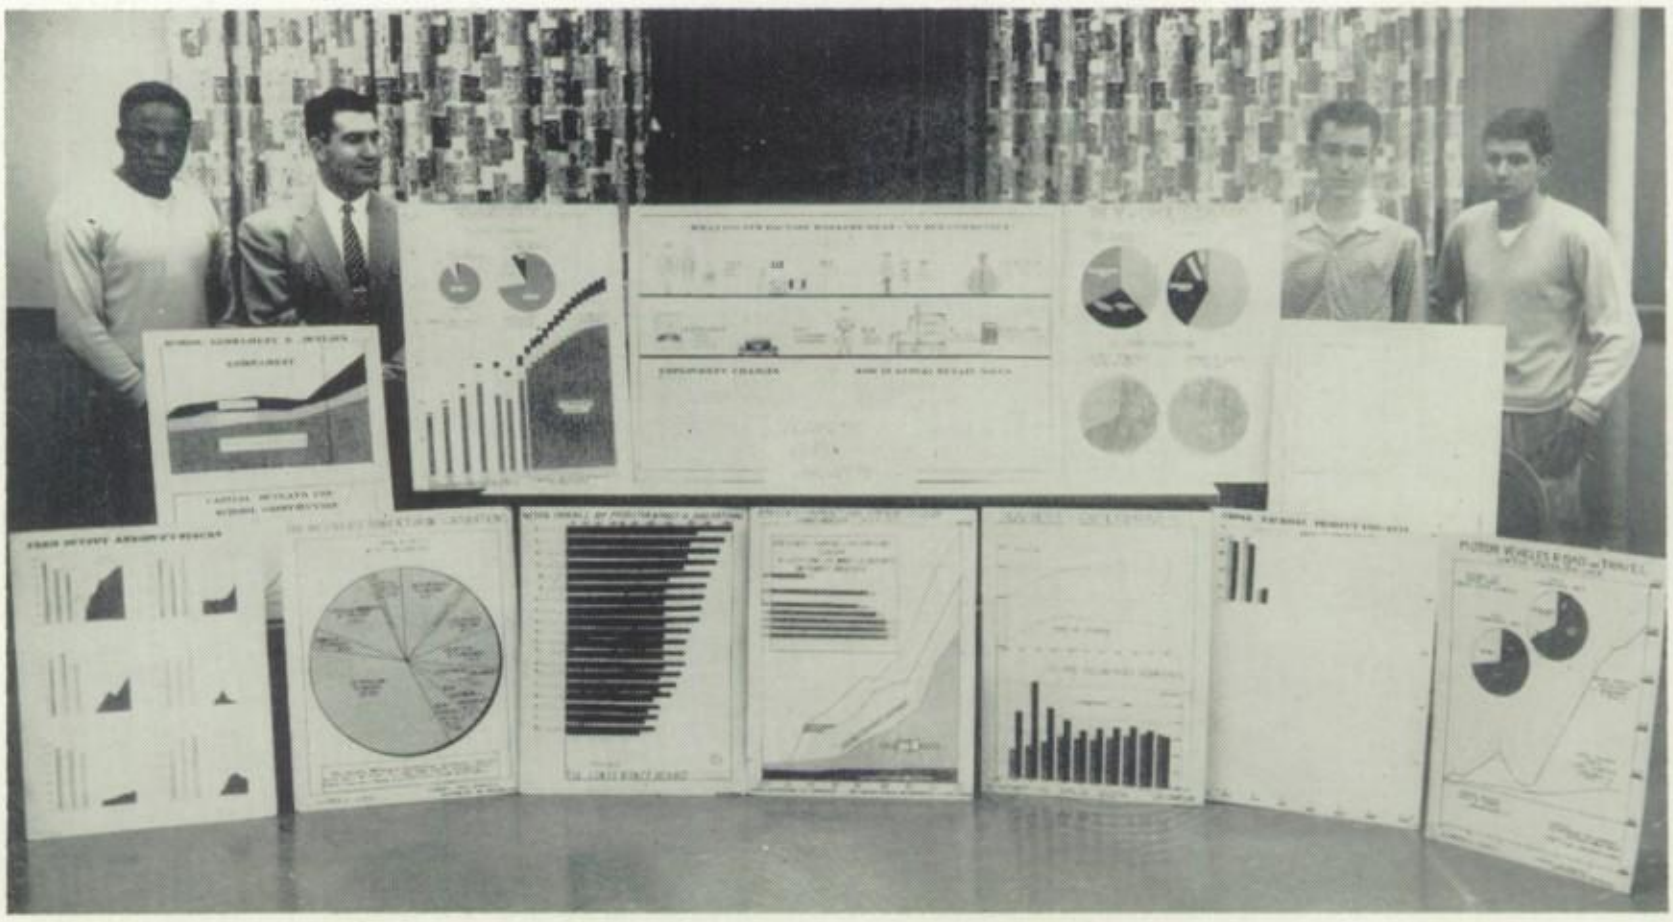
With a deadline to meet, the activity of the High Life staff reaches a peak. Headlines and bylines, cuts and proofs—the jargon of the journalism world fills the air. STANDING—J. McCullough, photographer; T. Wagoner, photographer; J. Grayson, A. Pearce, business manager. SEATED — J. Ruggeri, M. Vasil N. Ticknor, assistant editor; R. Luscombe, editor; M. Hitchings, exchange editor; K. Jolliff.



Not one item of Form 1040 is confusing after a unit on income tax.

Panel discussions play an important part in civics, sociology and other social study classes.

FROM ANCIENT ROME TO INCOME TAX



Various facets of our economic life are colorfully displayed in chart form.

WE STUDY MANKIND'S STORY

Mankind is forever moving onward, his progress and mistakes being written in history. In social study courses we study these records and learn through them how to better our world.

World events beginning with the stone age lead up to an analysis of our own government and conditions. Some learn to calculate income tax. Although this may seem dull and premature to many, several students already have an income of over $600, which is taxable.

Financial systems, labor problems, and traffic are some of the topics in economics class, while in commercial geography a student may learn how the topography of the land helps or hinders manufacturing. Sociology concerns personal relationships with family, friends, teachers, and the community.

Three units of social studies, including American history and civics, are required for graduation.

Maps make a knowledge of the physical aspects of the countryside as simple as reading a book.

SUBSTITUTE SOLONS

Civic-minded students in Hi-Eco-Sy have the exciting task of running the mock elections. They also receive a big thrill once a year when Warren's government is turned over to students who serve as the town's officials for a day.

COLLEGE PREP MEANS A LANGUAGE,

When a student is able to read a newspaper in French, he feels he is on his way to mastering the language.

Although the floor inlays in the Spanish room show the drooping sombreros of siesta time, the language department is not to be caught napping. While a senorita struggles through her carefully prepared discurso, right next door a class may be singing "Maudit Sois-Tu, Carilloneur!" and across the hall Caesar's friends, laboring over declensions, at last join him in his familiar "Veni, vidi, vici." Many interesting projects combined with translations, tests, and term papers provide a well-rounded curriculum for these college preps who are enrolled in foreign language courses.

Becoming a member of Los Amigos Espanoles gives students an opportunity to learn more about language, customs, and life in Spain.

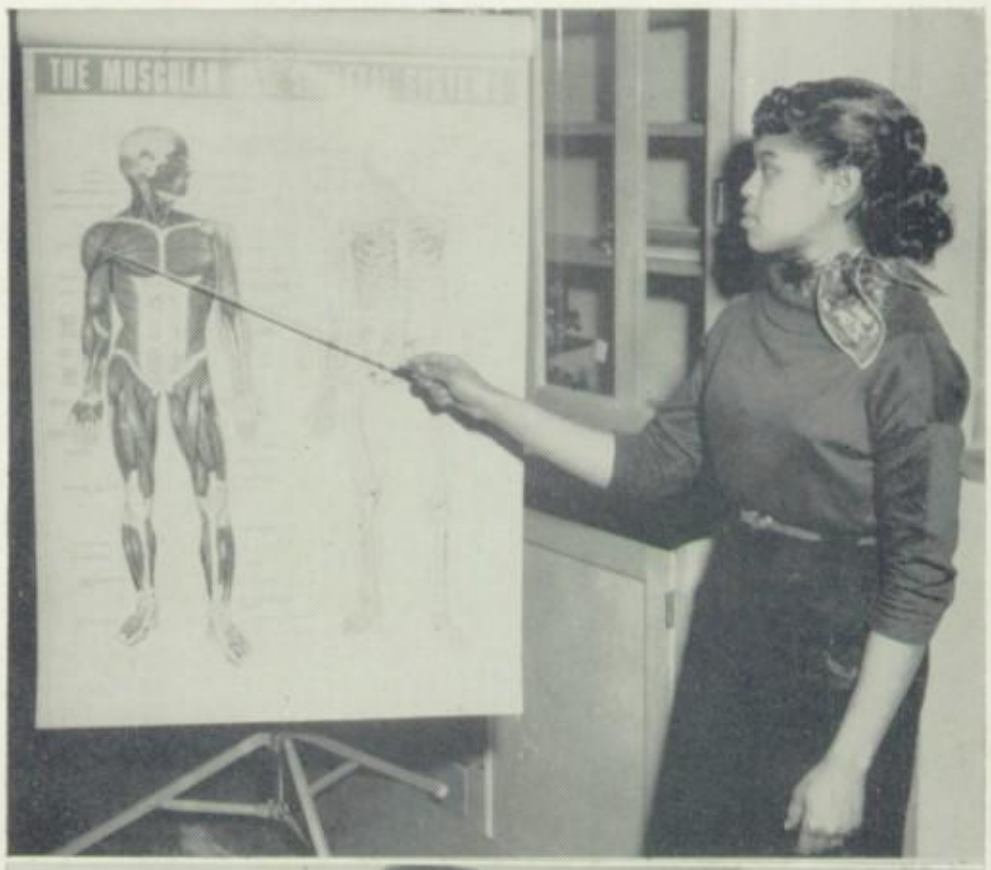
AS WELL AS VARIED CREDITS EARNED IN THE SCIENCE WING

Disecting a fish is one of many activities that reveal the wonders of nature to biology students.

The processes of tanning leather made an interesting study for zoology students, who actually produced tanned hides.

Controlled heat and moisture in the scientifically constructed greenhouse make the growth of hale and hearty plants possible.



The many processes and parts of the human body lose their shroud of mystery as they are explained in physiology.

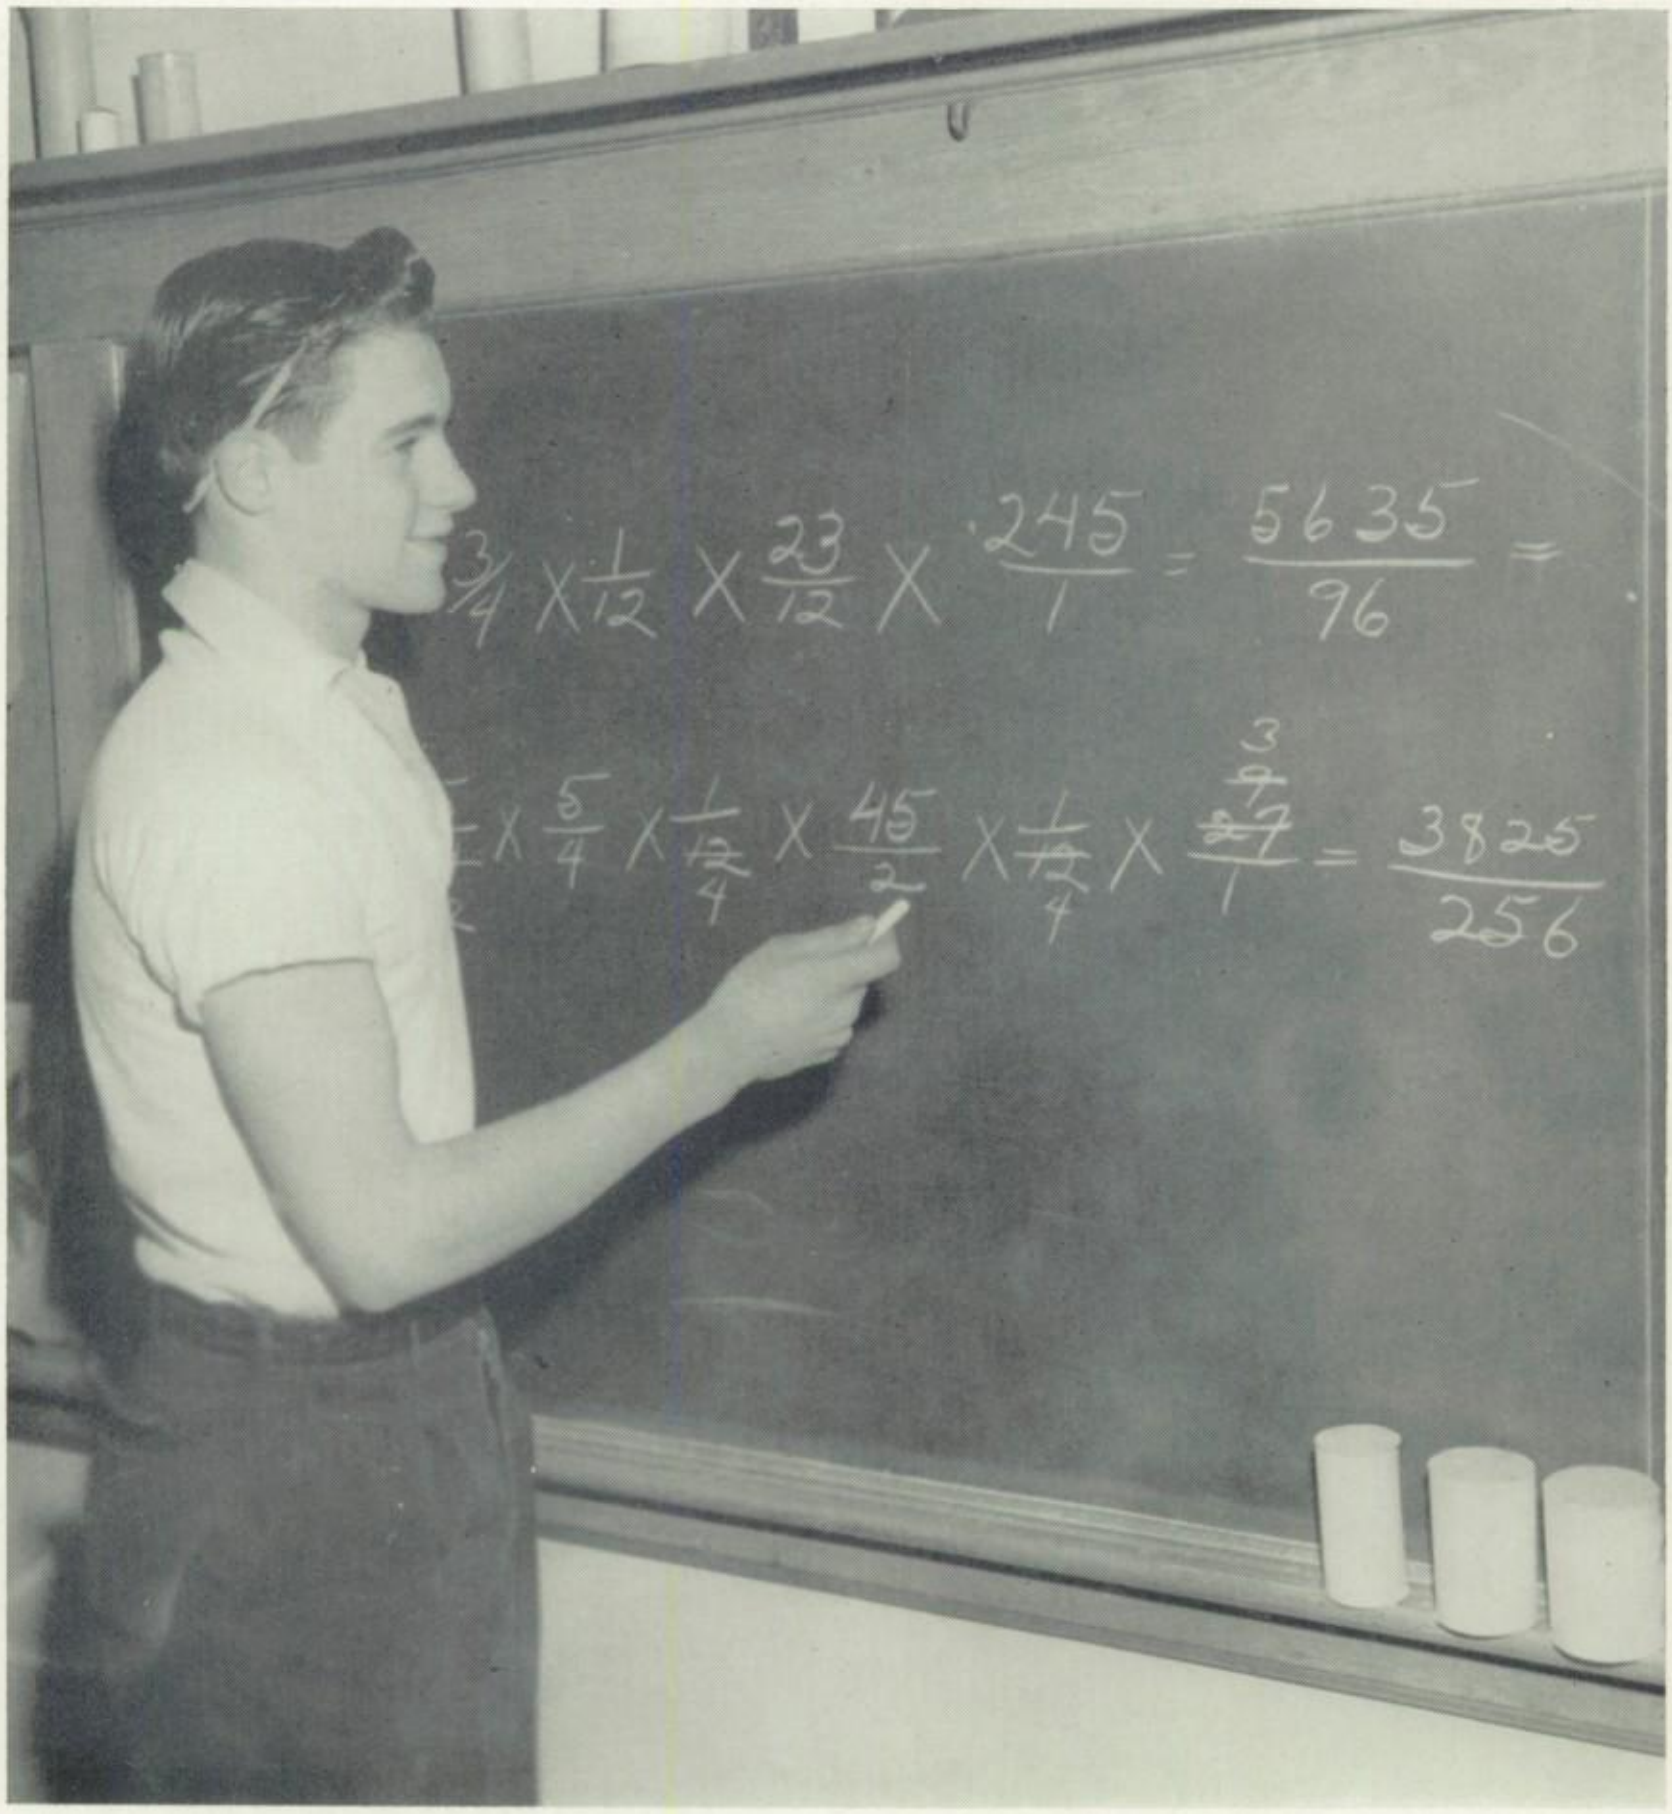
The world of test tubes, chemicals, formulas and natural laws is housed in the new science wing. Special concoctions boil and bubble in one room, while in another students busily disect fish. Reproduction, law of physics, lives and habits of plants and animals, are all topics for avid discussion in this section for scientists.

The letters and numbers of a formula are miraculously changed to colorful liquids, gases, and solids are future chemists experiment.

The bright, new chemistry lab offers modern, convenient equipment for would-be chemists to use while experimenting.

PRE-ENGINEERS CAN'T SKIP MATH

Learning to count and add were first steps in understanding basic mathematics fundamentals, but the real job begins when students put their knowledge to use with higher math. Problems in algebra, geometry, and trigonometry are necessities for those who will be figuring their futures with mathematics in many different fields. Engineering hopefuls can't get too many courses in high school, and those who are planning vocational careers find many uses for arithmetic as applied to shop work.



$\frac{3}{4} \times \frac{1}{12} \times \frac{23}{12} \times \frac{245}{1} = \frac{5635}{96}$

Financial resources of Future Business Leaders of America were saved toward a field trip to the Cathedral of Learning at the University of Pittsburgh and to the Heinz Company, also in Pittsburgh. The girls sponsored a card party among other activities to raise money for the trip.

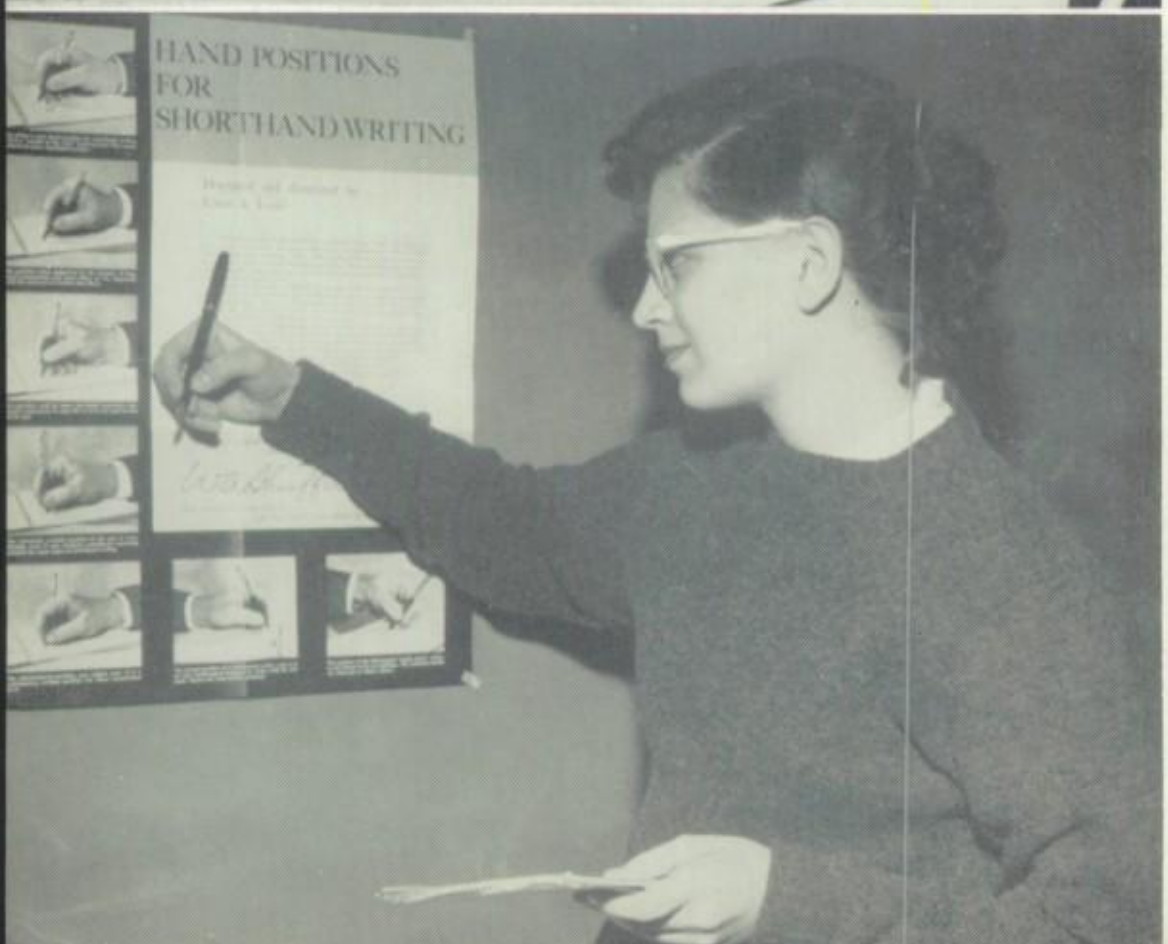
Learning the ABC's of filing requires more than a working knowledge of the alphabet. A file clerk has to classify material before she is able to get any paper under the right letter.

SOME OF US TRAIN

Flying fingers operate keys which unlock the door of the future for secretarial students. As well as mastering simple mechanics of the typewriter, future secretaries become acquainted with business forms and procedures.



A rapidly written but never spoken "language" is that of shorthand. Strange little signs make it possible for a secretary, quickly and accurately, to record every word.

Columns of figures marching down a page hold the attention of an aspiring bookkeeper. One number straying from the line may put the entire company "in the red."

FOR A BUSINESS CAREER . . .

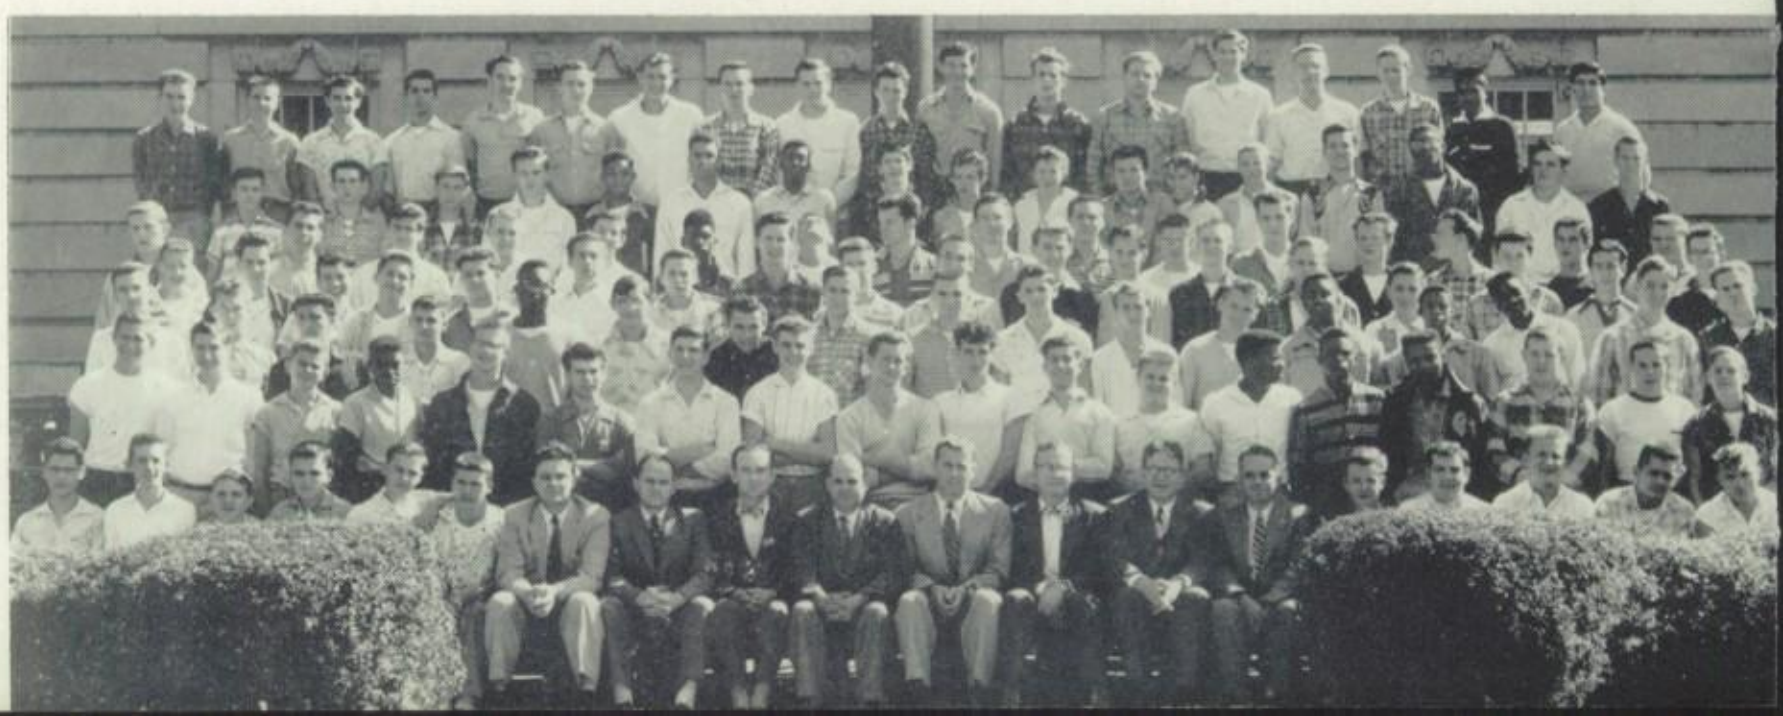
An expert on a posting machine can turn out a large volume of accurate statements. Other equipment students use include comptometers, dictaphones, electric typewriters, sound scribers, calculators, adding machines, and duplicators.

"May I help you?" These words, repeated by sales people from coast to coast, are everyday conversation for teenagers participating in the new distributive education program. Classes include discussion of problems as well as actual experience in local stores.

Voltage and current become important terms when the electricians of tomorrow meet. This is one of the new vocational courses offered this year.

. . . WHILE OTHERS CHOOSE THE SHOPS

Special honor came to Vocational Industrial Club members with the election of Barry Daugherty as state president and Mike Brady as the vice president of the North East District. Because of the large membership and varying interests, the local V. I. C. is divided into shop divisions, each with its officers and program.



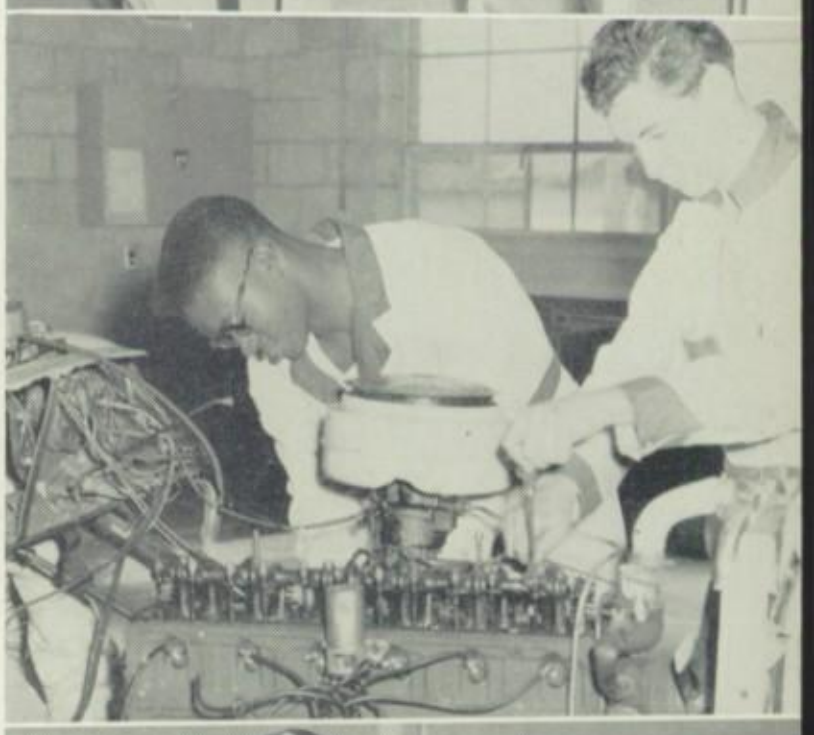
In wood shop, workers make everything from small car models to a full size picnic table.

Pouring molten metal into molds is a job in the general metals course that requires careful concentration.

Setting up a job on a vertical milling machine is just one step in the mastery of a large variety of machines in the machine shop.

Welding shop has facilities for electric arc and helic arc welding as well as oxy-acetylene cutting.

Boys in auto shop get their basic training as mechanics by working on new and old cars provided by the automobile dealers of Warren.



Learning to read and draw blueprints is an important part of training for future architects and engineers.

MANY LIKE SINGING, FIDDLING, AND

"Say it with music" is the motto of many of our students. To help those melodically inclined, Harding provides spacious new quarters.

Two large rehearsal rooms make it possible for music to be produced simultaneously by the dance band and orchestra, or A Cappella choir and the marching band, with no clashing of notes.

For those who wish to warble or toot privately, soundproof practice rooms are provided adjacent to the rehearsal rooms with glass windows so that the instructor may keep an eye on the musicians.

Even storage space shows the influence of music. The shelves of one of the closets are in the shape of the instruments they hold. Others are for uniforms and robes.

For the marching members of musical education, a private exit onto the playing field is conveniently provided.

THE RHYTHM OF A BAND

A dance band brings school work and extra-curricular activities closer together. This addition to the curriculum combines the talents of: Front—A. Martini, L. D'Andrea, J. Didich, D. Persin; Rear—D. Morley, J. Padavan, R. Atwood, D. Hunt; N. Yannucci at piano.

The wood-wind section awaits instructions before beginning.

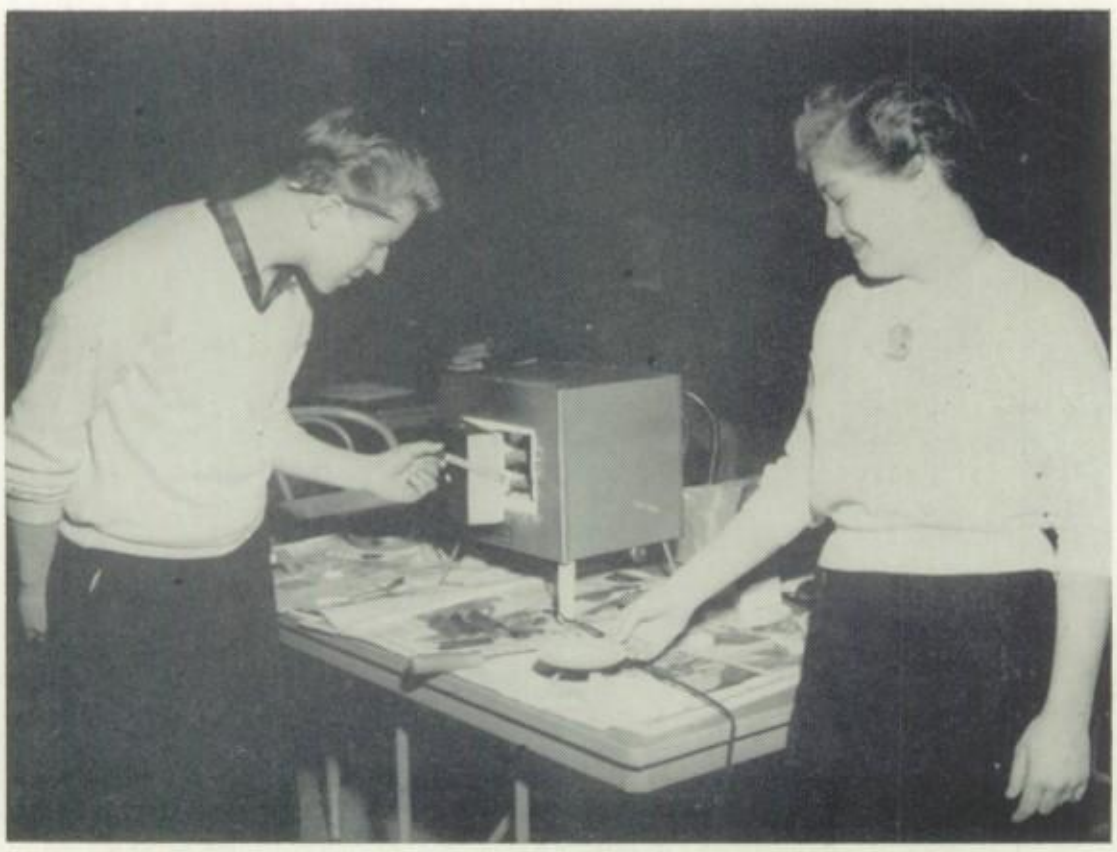
ART

Industrious students not only work on oil paintings, posters, and other individual projects but also display their talent by making stage scenery for the various plays as well as creating figures for parade floats.



CRAFTS

Making sure the ceramic work in the kiln has reached the "orange-peel stage" is a characteristic a student in the new crafts course must recognize.

"Be careful," says Mr. Taft, as students enter the driver-training car to obtain first-hand experience on the crowded Warren streets.

TEENS TODAY . . . HOMEMAKERS TOMORROW

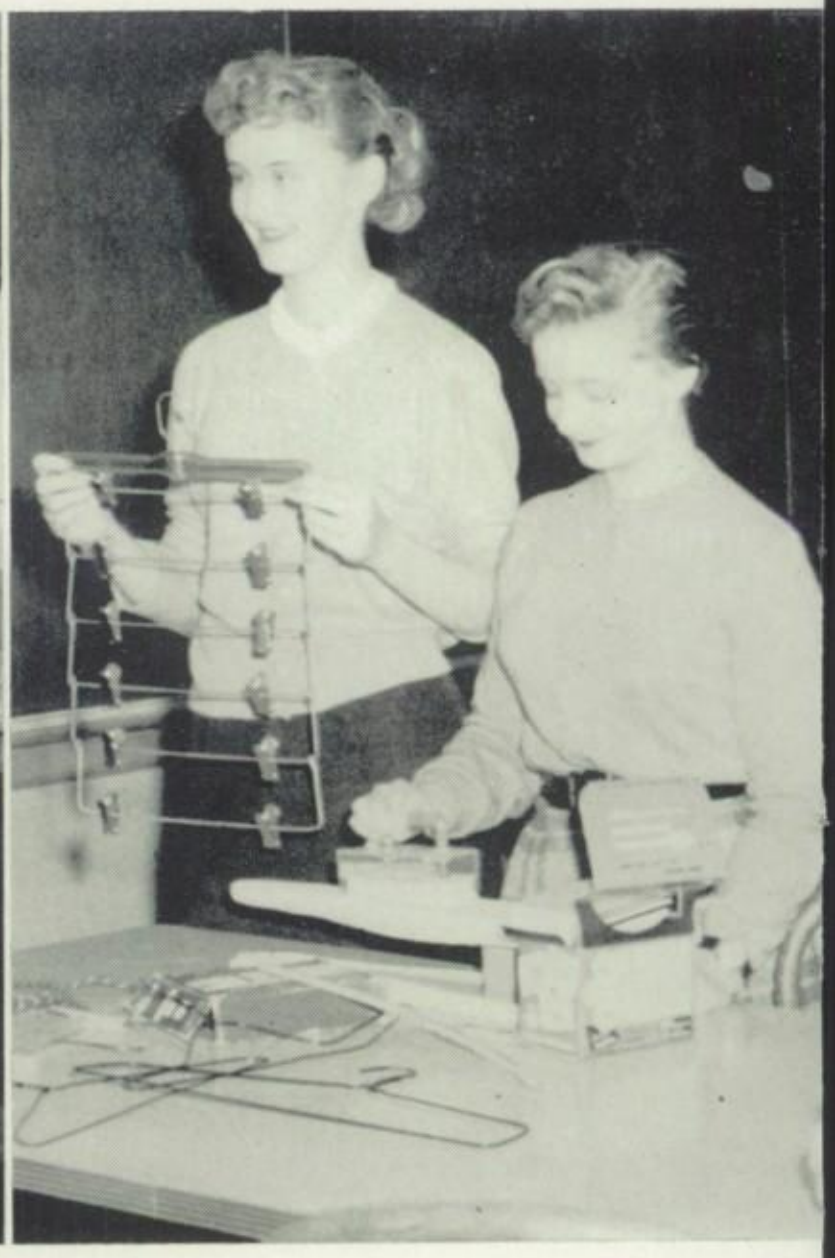
Today great emphasis is being placed on homemaking skills. Leading magazines throughout the country are featuring modern facilities in the home, among these the attractive and efficient kitchen. Our home economics department is right in step with the remodeling of the kitchen unit this past year. Cheerful yellow and green dominates the room, and students find it stimulating to work at the sparkling new cooking units, to reach for dishes in the cupboards, and to serve at the tables.

Equally as important as foods is the care of small children and experience with interior decorating. Modern home furnishings are studied, and general problems of household management are discussed. The treatment of the sick in the home is learned, with practice in bedside care. Clothing problems become simple when girls study design, sewing, and fitting of garments in clothing class.

Students who solve these varying problems in their daily classes, face a future as wife and mother with confidence.

Keeping up with the latest styles is easy and economical if one can sew.

Special hangers and irons make neatness a simple matter.



Working at the modern kitchen units, girls easily turn recipes into meals.

Actual experience with children gives a working knowledge of child care.

A square dance set forms a basket in preparation for the physical education demonstration.

The schottische is another lively dance performed by the girls.

AND A SOUND HEALTH PROGRAM CAPS THE LIST

Whether future plans are attending college or becoming a member of the industrial world, it is important to have a sound body. Harding offers a well-rounded physical education program to meet this need and to offer recreational activities.

The girls occupy the double gym in the main building where they engage in various types of dancing. This being only a minor part of the program, they also learn the necessary rules for a rapidly moving basketball, volleyball, or baseball game.

The boys now have their classes in the new field house where there are special rooms which provide opportunity for instruction in the popular sports of wrestling and boxing. The large main floor makes it possible for two basketball games to be played simultaneously, or for a large group to do calisthenics. Special equipment, some of which is suspended from the ceiling, helps boys develop physical stamina and co-ordination. For those interested in tennis, badminton, or golf special classes are offered to students who may participate if they wish.

Because the sophomores don't want to be caught unprepared if an emergency should arise, they are learning first-aid as part of the health course. Bandages, splints, fractures and artificial respiration are all problems presented to them in this class along with everyday rules for good health.

Lively intramural games, which are contests among homerooms, are sponsored and run by the physical education instructor. As a climax to the intramural basketball season, the victorious homeroom plays a game in which they challenge the men of the faculty. This is a highlight of the basketball season.

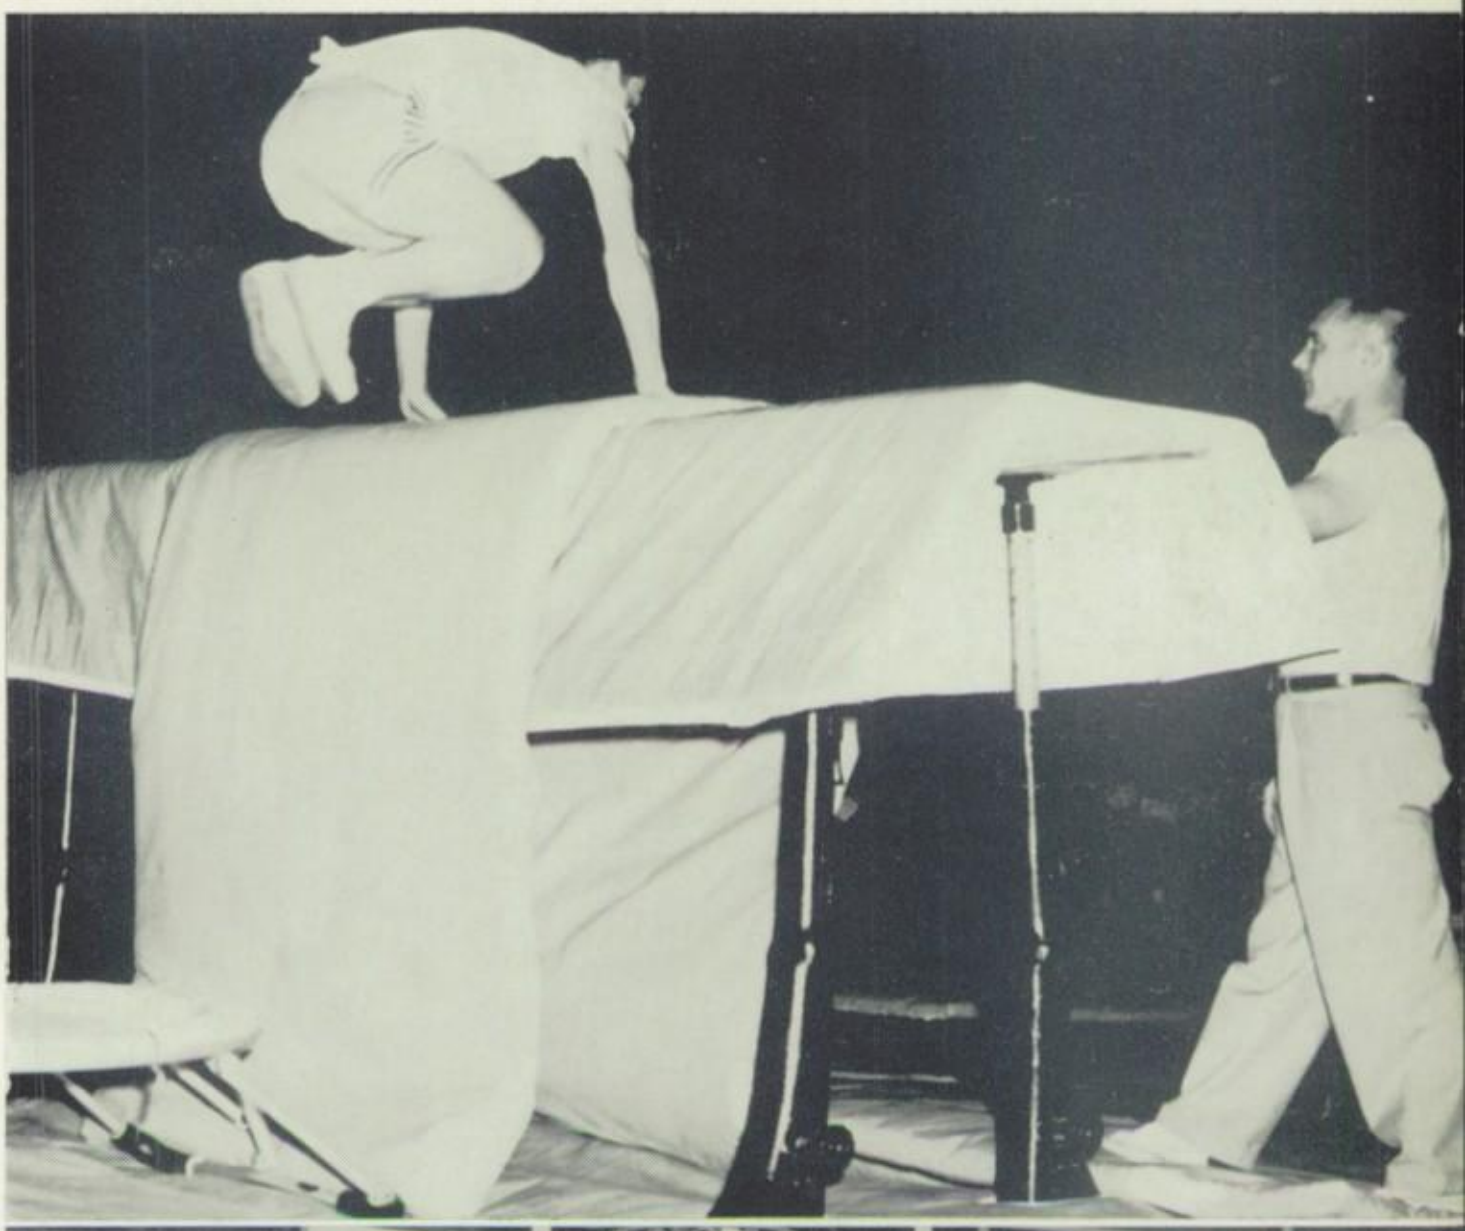
Everyone should learn to follow the Boy Scout motto of being physically fit and our school is certainly making an attempt by seeing that we, as students, are being given all the modern physical education facilities.

A lay-up shot may make the winning point in basketball.

Practice with back strokes and over-hand help a badminton player become a pro.

Wrestlers hold their positions while they wait for the referee to slap the mat as a signal to resume grappling.

All wrapped up in their work! Boys in health class are learning how to apply head, foot, and sling type bandages.



Up and over is the aim of all boys who enjoy gymnastics.

"I wonder where it went?" exclaim these basketball players when the ball seems to drift from sight.

COKE TIME

ACTIVITIES

With an enrollment of over 1,700 students in Harding, activities are many and varied; some involving all the students, while others interest only a few. Dances and parties are also scheduled during the year. Clubs of all types meet periodically; service clubs, clubs involving skills, and purely social clubs. Through the year new members of Honor Society art tapped, awards are given, and delegates to Boys' and Girls' State are selected. An assembly committee is responsible for the paid assemblies. Queens are crowned for some of the dances, and a Homecoming Queen highlights the football season. Extra-curricular activities are a major part of our high school.

GOT AN ACTIVITY TICKET YET?

The efforts of Alli Belly, maharajah, to discover methods of occupying his wives' time launched the activity ticket campaign for this school year. After being convinced that an activity ticket was the solution to his worries he bought several—one for each of his wives and one for himself. The activity ticket admits the holder to all dances, athletic events, plays and also purchases the Echoes. General chairmen, W. Zuga, student body president, and C. Schwartz, Booster Club president, appointed three team captains who in turn selected their teams for the annual contest, which was won by the blue team.

W. Zuga and C. Schwartz show the activity ticket surrounded by the assembly cast. Members of Boosters Club who took part in the assembly are: E. Herrington, J. Howe, 5; V. Long, C. Adgate, S. Rhiel, 3; and D. McEwen.

Decorating the Christmas tree in the center hall are: M. Gibson, R. Gibson, B. Braden, D. Schwartz, A. Pearce, W. Madar, C. Gibson. Listening to M. Pado play after a club meeting are. J. Lechleitner, B. Campbell, K. Downs, C. McCrae, R. Zuga, C. Zerial, G. Williams, J. Hall, N. Lansdowne. Snapped at a Frolics rehearsal are: Front—B. Shapiro, 2; N. Novak, D. Economos, S. Morrison, A. Lebermuth; Rear—L. Leard, K. Gibson, P. Reed.

BOOSTERS CLUB is exactly what its name implies — a booster of school activities. The president and the sponsors, Miss Dively, Mr. Moore, and Mr. Corlett, have a big job ahead of them each year. During football season Boosters maintains a snack booth in the stadium selling hot dogs, soft drinks, and candy. The club is also responsible for many phases of Homecoming. In the spring, Boosters Club sponsors the annual Frolics, in which students and teachers alike take part.

As cleaning time rolls around C. Schwartz, 1; J. McElwain, M. Georgalis, and S. Orwell, tackle the trophy case.

DONNA MAHAFFEY

HOMECOMING . . .

The crowd waited tensely for the appearance of the homecoming queen and her attendants, before the Erie East game. The ribbon girls, all seniors, filed out on the field and took their places in front of the throne. The annual crowning of homecoming queen was about to begin! The queen, Donna Mahaffey, and her attendants, Lee Hitchings and Judy McElwain, escorted by Carl Schwartz, Frank Millero, and Bill Greskovich, respectively, were driven to the field in convertibles. The homecoming dance the followng evening, the first to be held in the new field house, was sponsored by the Lettermen's Club. At this time the queen was again crowned.

As the attendants and their escorts look on, C. Schwartz, president of Boosters Club, crowns the Homecoming Queen.

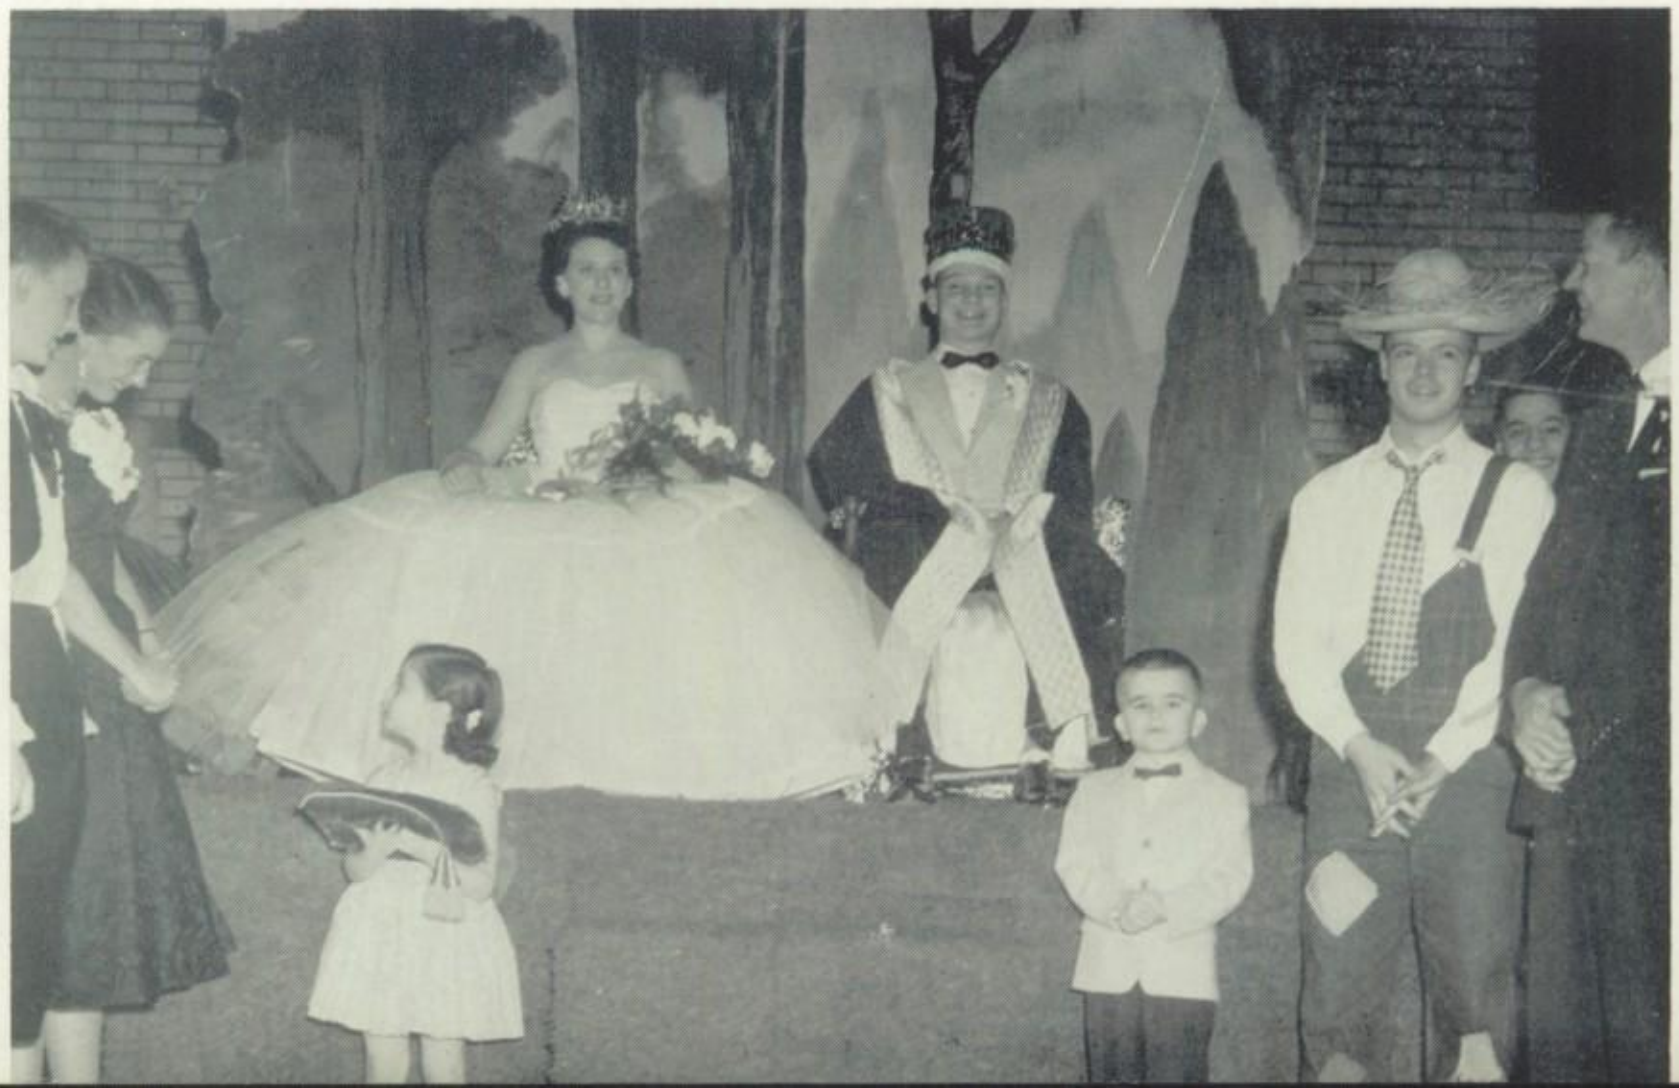
MARDI GRAS

The exciting spirit of Mardi Gras time in New Orleans was captured in the twenty-fifth annual dance sponsored by French and Spanish clubs. More than half of those in attendance came in costume as has been the custom for many years. Margy Gay, representative from the Spanish Club, and David McEwen from the French Club reigned as Rex and Regina.

Following the coronation, the king and queen form a cheerful group with some of their subjects: T. Woodward dressed as Little Lord Fauntleroy; Mrs. Howard Kaighan, first regina; who crowned the queen; L. Constantino, who carried the queen's crown; D. Hogan, Crownbearer for the king; and C. McCrae, a typical Little Abner; and Ronald Noland, first rex, who crowned the king.



SPRING FESTIVAL

At the last big social event of the 1956 school year, sponsored by the junior class, Darlene Furlong reigned as May Queen. She was escorted by William Zuga, and attended by Kay Warfield, escorted by Cedric Johnson, and Nadine Canzonetta, escorted by David DelGarbino. T. Antonelli and M. Cicero completed the royal party.

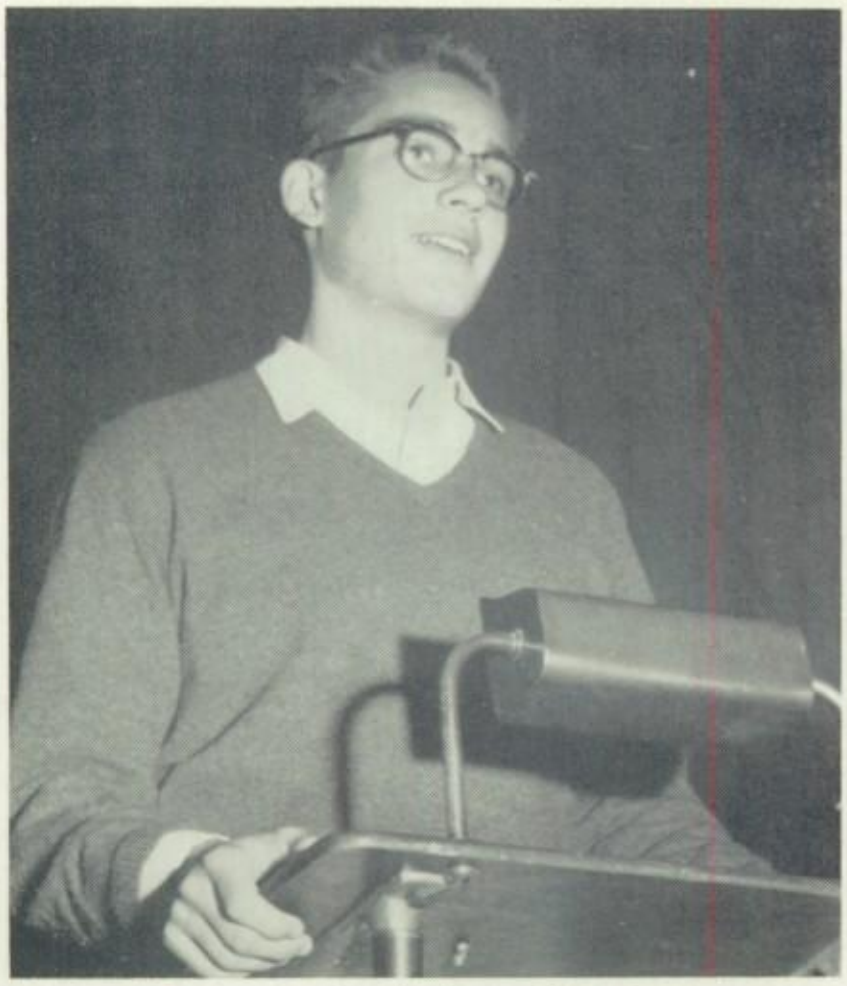
"SCRAPBOOK" PROVES INTERESTING THEME FOR

When a "Scrapbook" theme was chosen by Boosters Club, plans began to roll for the production of the twenty-eighth annual Frolics. Approximately seventy-five acts turned out for tryouts. Entertainment ranging from dance lines, vocalists, and slap-stick comedy to classical music all had a part in the 1956 show. After many weeks of building scenery and rehearsing, the Frolics played to a full house three nights in succession. Emcees from all three grades kept the annual show going, as they carried the theme through, and went a little further to provide additional fun and entertainment with the help of the stooges. Several weks after the production, when the cast and club members alike had caught their breath, they met at Idora Park in Youngstown for an evening of enjoyment with a picnic and free tickets for all. A job well done, the students began to look forward to their next year's show.

On opening night everything seemed to fall right into place, and as usual the Frolics were well received; but anyone who attended the dress rehearsal might have wondered if the first performance would actually be born. In one corner P. Bowman and L. Bedlion practiced their contribution of "He". Backstage The Temple Dancers, featuring I. Latimer, E. Harner, A. Pearce, C. Adgate, L. Hitchings, J. Howe, S. Rhiel and E. Herrington, were telling the stage men exactly what time to start their record. R. Luscombe, T. Woodward, and D. Christman serenaded a blank wall while stooge J. Polley and emcee C. Schwartz went through a comedy routine on stage. Miss Kelly spent her evening applying make-up, and many did not recognize Boosters prexy D. Pickstone as the sad-looking clown. H. Snyder, in charge of lighting for all acts, spent the whole time behind the scenes while Director Corlett gave last minute directions and hints to the cast.

ANNUAL BOOSTER CLUB FROLICS

STUDENT



W. Zuga, student body president, boosting school spirit at a pep rally.

Student Council is the governing body of the school. The problems of the school sooner or later come to the attention of one of the committees in the council who present them for discussion. The council then tries to find a solution. Student Council sponsors College Vocational Day each year to acquaint the students with vocations and colleges they are interested in. Representatives from the northeastern area attend the conference. The council also raises money by selling school pencils and providing noon-time entertainment in the way of popular movies at a very reasonable rate.

Every homeroom elects a representative to Student Council.

TAPPING IS A GOAL REACHED

Two smiling snowmen welcomed all comers to "The Snowman's Stomp," sponsored by National Honor Society to raise money for student scholarships. A party, "The March Mixer," was the group's second and very successful effort. Members also collected tax stamps from the homerooms to raise money to purchase glasses for those who cannot afford them and assisted in the annual "Peanuts for Polio" drive. All this activity follows that traditionally thrilling tapping ceremony which recognizes those outstanding in leadership, scholarship, character, and service.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTED TWO FINE PLAYS...

"GRAMERCY GHOST"

Things began poppin' quite early this year for Dramatics Club members, who wasted no time in making plans for their first production. The cast was chosen, lines were learned, and rehearsals started. In co-operation with the stage crew, a typical old New York house came to life in the setting of Gramercy Park. Costumes were ordered, publicity planned, properties gathered, programs designed, and tickets sold. On November 9 and 10, an enthusiastic audience watched the curtain rise on a smooth production of the Cecil Holmes comedy, "Gramercy Ghost."

The lawyer tells Nancy and her fiance of the strange inheritance she has just received.

The Gramercy ghost and his two friends make a hasty exit through a window as dawn approaches.

"JENNY KISSED ME"

"Jenny kissed me when we met, jumping from the chair she sat in . . . " These poetic lines were quoted by the leading lady in the spring production, "Jenny Kissed Me"; the title being taken from the poem. The comedy-love story centered around the life of a country girl who was changed into a hep teenager with the help of a priest. It was a huge success, playing to a large crowd of happy listeners two nights.

Each time would-be actors (below) review their parts, they are amused more and more by humorous lines.

. . . TO PLAN A FUTURE

Everybody's business is Echoes business. The staff must know everything that happens from the farthest corner of the vocational shops to the commercial department. Taking photographs, identifying students, selling ads, writing copy, mounting pictures, and typing keep members of the staff on their toes "from dawn to dusk." When the yearbook, presenting a complete picture of the year, is finally released, a sigh of relief is breathed by all.

Sports play one of the biggest parts in developing and maintaining a sound school spirit. Over the years Harding has been noted for outstanding athletic teams and enthusiastic rooters at all games. This tradition has developed due to the loyal support of students in actual participation in contests or urging on their schoolmates. From early fall to late spring there is a sport to interest everyone. Football, basketball and baseball offer a chance to play on a team, while track, golf, and tennis offer individual participation in varsity sports. On the intramural and girls' physical education level there are also both team and individual sports.

THE SPORTS YEAR STARTS WITH FOOTBALL

Although competition during the 1956 Panther football season proved rather stiff because Harding faced teams that were rated among the top twenty in the state, the Rifflemen were able to finish the season with a five win, five loss record.

The Panthers showed much determination when they came from behind to score and win games after facing odds of seemingly certain defeat. Often Warren coupled its ground and passing attack into a well co-ordinated and favorably polished offense. Sharp blocking in the line and capable running by the backs were the earmarks of the Panther team much of the time.

In the five games that they lost, Warren held their own through three quarters but seemed to lose spark and steam in the final stanza. This possibly could be attributed to the lack of depth in the Warren squad. Sickness and injury hurt the varsity noticeably. An outbreak of influenza damaged the starting lineup early in the season and put Harding off its stride. The injury "bug," nightmare of all football coaches, furthered Warren's difficulties. The combined affect of injury and sickness compelled the use of many inexperienced underclassmen.

In future years Warren has a brighter outlook. Juniors and sophomores who were able to make the starting lineup this year will be returning lettermen with all-important and valuable game experience. Also, the sophomore team this year was one of the best in the history of Warren High football. With the wealth of talented football prospects, who are expected to participate for the Harding varsity football squad, there certainly should be fine gridiron teams coming up.

The series between Cleveland Collinwood and Warren over the years has pitted evenly matched teams for the opening game. This year seemed to be the exception as the Panthers easily defeated the Railroaders from Cleveland, 24-7.

Because of this encouraging beginning Warren had high hopes of stopping the state champion Canton McKinley Bulldogs. Harding scored quickly after recovering a fumble deep in Canton territory. However, all previous anticipations were quenched quickly by McKinley, who rolled to a 60-12 victory.

Possibly this stunning defeat caused the Harding team to shy away from flashy backs and solid blocking. This feeling among the players was more than obvious in the Cleveland Heights game. Warren had an up-hill battle to overtake a two-touchdown lead that was piled up in the first four minutes of play. The team deserves much credit for being able to fight back, even after the game seemed to be a hopeless loss. For five years Warren has never been able to win more than two out of its first four games.

Football at Harding seems to have the motto "Tradition is not to be changed." The Mansfield game is always an evenly matched contest. This year Warren led at half-time, 14-6, but the Tygers added two touchdowns and an extra point in the fourth quarter to edge the Panthers, 19-4.

Erie East journeyed to Warren for Harding's Homecoming game to renew an old city rivalry. The Panther team had little trouble in doing their part to make Homecoming pleasant as they crushed East, 56-7.

The following week Warren faced another Canton team, Central Catholic. Two early touchdowns in the first quarter, one coming on the first series of downs, gave Harding the deciding edge in a closely contested battle. The fine running of halfback Don Szuch, plus excellent line play were the contributing factors that defeated the Canton foe, 21-7.

Previous to this game Harding had trouble in obtaining extra points, but finally a placekicker, Jack Pietila, was found and all three points after touchdown were chalked up on the scoreboard.

The football fever in Warren is always at its height the week before the Panthers play Massillon. Previous to the contest, Harding had a record of four wins and two losses coming into the Massillon game, one of which was an exciting and closely contested defeat to Mansfield. Massillon lost to Mansfield, 14-6, the week before they traveled to Warren. Immediately Warrenites compared scores and predicted Harding would defeat the Massillon Tigers.

The Panther offense looked good in the first and third quarters, but a punt return by Wally Armour late in the second period accounted for Warren's only tally. The extra point was missed. Massillon scored in every stanza as they downed the Panthers for the fifth straight year, 26-6. The big football enthusiasm in Warren was crushed.

Harding traveled to Lorain on November 1, to seek their fifth win. The pigskin shuffled back and forth between both teams for three quarters. Twice the Warren defense staved off assaults on their goal staged by the Steelmen of Lorain. However, Harding's offense never really tested Lorain's goal line strength. It gained only 199 yards the entire game, for the smallest net yardage chalked up by a varsity team for quite some time. The Panthers were drubbed in the dreaded last quarter by a barrage of 20 points. Warren's bid for a victory was disappointed by Lorain, 20-0.

The following week Warren stayed on the road, and traveled to Steubenville. The Big Red was an unpredictable team. They were unbeatable one week, unable to find the winning combination the next.

The Panther gridmen stepped on to the field confident of an easy victory. Steubenville followed, confident that Warren was going to have to be at their very best in order to win. The Harding players, who were cocky for the first time all season, had quite a shock when a Big Red back loped around left end to scamper sixty-six yards for a touchdown, the first time Steubenville got their hands on the ball. However, Steubenville failed to hold on to their half-time lead of 7-0. A determined group of Panther players, certain that any game cannot be won because you think you are better than the other team, blocked and tackled solidly the last two quarters.

Twice a gaping hole opened between center and guard for Don Szuch, stellar Panther back, to romp for T.D.'s, but the Big Red was not crushed that easily. They regained the lead by scoring another touchdown and an extra point, 14-12.

As Warren kicked off to Steubenville the ball was fumbled, and guard Ron Foy recovered the pigskin in mid-air close to touchdown territory. Warren took advantage of the situation by a perfectly timed pass from Joe Malone to Bill Greskovich. The game ended with Warren victorious, 19-14.

Warren returned home for parents' night and the final game of the season with Youngstown Ursuline. Before the contest the Warren players and their parents were introduced. It was a very enjoyable experience but quite unlike the skirmish that followed. Ursuline dominated play throughout the game and a corresponding superiority was registered on the score board, 33-7.

The only bright spot of the game for the Panther fans came when Bob Smith intercepted a pitchout and scampered seventy yards for six points. The extra point was good and Warren took a 7-6 lead. However, the advantage was held only a few moments because the Warren kickoff was run back all the way just before the half ended. Warren couldn't find the scoring punch.

The remainder of the game thus ended the 1956 Warren Panther Football Season.

THE NEW GYM WAS DEDICATED . . . NOW SEATING IS NO PROBLEM AT BASKETBALL GAMES

Principal M. Mollenkopf, steps to the rostrum to give his address while other dignitaries look over their notes at the dedication of the new Harding Field House.

Completion of the new field house, one of the finest in this area, brought Harding basketball fans the expectation of a possible championship team for 1956-57; however, the Panthers had one of the most troubled records since 1952 when the team was able to win only four games. This year Harding had a four win, 12 loss mark.

The Panthers had trouble scoring above 50 points per game and consequently lost four games to start the season, but made a comeback during the season. The final contest of the year saw them play their best game although losing to a top-flying Canton Timken five. Also, the Panthers flouted Youngstown North in the Northeastern Ohio District Class AA Tournament and gave a good account of themselves against Youngstown South, the number four team in the state.

A rousing rally in the third period to wipe out Chaney's 27-19 halftime lead and gain the advantage briefly, 35-31, marked the season opener in Youngstown. Warren scored first in the primary minutes of play, but it was the only other time the Harding cagemen held the lead.

Staying on the road, Warren matched baskets with East Liverpool. The powerful Potters and the Panthers played on equal footing until a 14-point Potter spurt left Warren trailing.

The new field house held its first crowd of basketball fans as the Panthers returned home to face Toledo Waite Indians, who retained their unmarred season by outplaying Warren 79-58.

Joining the teams which in three years have not been able to down the Sharon Tigers on their home court, the Panthers suffered their worst defeat, 84-32. The "race horse" type of basketball which Sharon has been noted for proved the determining factor in the stunning defeat.

Warren returned home to face a winless quintet from Struthers for its first court victory, 55-46. The Harding five opened up a commanding lead in the first few minutes of play with a blistering attack characterized by fast breaks and accurate shooting.

In the Massillon Tiger gym Harding suffered its fifth loss. A devastating Tiger attack left the Warrenites wavering behind a ten-point deficit at the end of the first quarter. Harding only once showed signs of a rally with three minutes remaining in the third stanza.

Girard was the Panthers' second victim of the season, 60-34. Holding a consistent margain of 13 points throughout the first half, the Panthers steadily upped their advantage in the second two quarters. Coach Kemp shoved in the varsity reserves with five minutes left in the fourth period.

Harding was jolted at the Canton Field House, 55-48, by the Lehman Polar Bears. Warren got off to a fine start but showed a spotty offense and a poor shooting percentage. The Polar Bears also had trouble connecting with field goal attempts; however, personal fouls gave Lehman an advantage.

T. Newhouse taps ball to Warren teammate to win opening center jump against Canton McKinley.

Canton McKinley invaded Warren's home court to register the highest score obtained by one team to date in the new field house, 90-51. Ed Mathews did some record setting in the new gym by making 36 points on field goals for the Bulldogs.

Salem tramped onto the Warren floor to humble the Panthers, 67-50, and remain in the ranks of the undefeated. Warren's fast start was offset by the Visitors' steady foul shooting, for the records show the Quakers outpointed the Panthers 21-10 at the foul stripe but only outscored in the field goal by three baskets.

Bouncing back from setbacks, Harding took revenge on Leavittsburg, 79-63, on the Yellow Jackets' home floor. For the first time in the season the Panthers displayed an attack built around good rebounding, sharp shooting, and accurate foul throwing.

Canton Central Catholic then squeezed past Warren, 69-65, on Warren's home court. The game was knotted several times in the final two minutes of the skirmish but Canton pushed ahead by putting together foul tosses and field goals. Jack Gibson had 20 points for Warren, followed by Bill Mrofchak and Joe Hill with 13 and 12, respectively.

Newton Falls invaded Warren Field House and defeated the Panthers, 75-62, for the first Tiger victory since 1932 when Falls defeated Warren, 24-21.

Warren fought back to gain lost prestige in the county by edging Howland, 56-55. The Panthers led throughout the game but Howland closed the gap separating the two teams considerably in the last quarter.

The Panthers traveled to Boardman territory to be handed their next loss, 69-48, when they were rocked back on their heels by the first-half assault of the Spartons and only scored 14 markers. The last two quarters were comparatively close.

Alliance played host to Harding and nonchalantly whipped the Panthers, 66-41. The Aviators swept to a 17-9 lead in the first period and hung on to it for the remainder of the game.

Playing Niles at McDonald, Harding was never able to erase a 17-10 first period lead and suffered defeat at the hands of the Red Dragons, 66-55. Going into the fourth quarter, the Panthers trailed by only three markers but that was the closest they could come.

Canton Timken traveled to Harding for the final match of the season for both teams. A determined quintet from Warren led throughout the skirmish but was outpointed in the dying seconds of play for one of the most exciting games for Harding fans and possibly the best played contest for the team.

Thus concluded the scheduled season but the Northeastern Ohio District Tournament was just around the corner. At South Field House Warren defeated Youngstown North, 55-50 in its first tourney undertaking by sinking baskets to break a 39-39 deadlock at the end of the third period.

The highly ranked Youngstown South team was kept on the hot seat for the first half in the second district fray as Warren outpointed them, 18-10, in the first quarter and broke an 18-18 stalemate to gain a 24-20 lead in the second period. Gradually the flashy courtmen from South overpowered the Panthers to leave Warren two points short of victory, thus closing the 1956-57 season.

TENNIS

Under the expert guidance of Coach Marcarello the 1956 tennis team had one of its finest seasons. Although Harding lost its first contest, five matches to two, at the hands of Youngstown Rayen, the remainder of the season Warren was undefeated. They upset a strong Youngstown South team in a well-played match, 7-0, and showed signs of further improvement as they easily defeated Boardman, 6-1. Both Youngstown Chaney and South were shut out by the Panthers 7-0 and 9-0 respectively. For the first time in three years Warren beat the district champs, Massillon, 5-2, in an independent contest.

DIAMONDMEN HAVE TOP SEASON

Unpredictable, rainy weather in 1956 proved a handicap; still William Kraker's second year as baseball coach was a successful one with a record of six wins and three losses.

Enthusiasm and a strong desire to win were displayed by the diamondmen at the season opener April 17, when pitcher Carl Buffone defeated Howland, 4-2, with the strong bats of Price and Senkowitz backing him up. Two weeks later Buffone pitched a three-hitter at Niles, only to be defeated 1-0. In the following game Harding banged out 10 hits and blanked Kinsman, 9-0. Three days later Warren downed Youngstown Wilson, 5-1.

During May Harding played five games, traveling first to Struthers, where hurler Dave Gilger pitched three-hit ball but fielding errors defeated him, 3-1.

The Panthers bounded back the next game and defeated Youngstown East, 7-3. Another Youngstown team, South, proved rougher competition as they shut-out Warren, 2-0.

Harding ended their season strongly by defeating Newton Falls, 15-2, and Howland, 16-4.

Because many of the regulars will be returning baseball lettermen, Coach Kraker is looking forward to a fine Harding team in the spring of 1957.

GOLFERS ENJOY A WINNING RECORD

The golf team teed off against Kent Roosevelt for the opening clash of the season, which ended in an eight-all tie. After many postponements of matches because of wet courses, Warren faced St. Marys at Avalon and was defeated, 22-25.

Harding bounded back to the winning trail as they won the next three contests which were all triangular matches. Niles and Hubbard took a back seat to the Panthers, 18 2/3-4 1/3-25, respectively. Harding's men on the green outshot Howland and Girard, 27½-12-8½. The Warren, Niles and Vienna scrape proved another victory for the Panthers, 29-9½-9½. In the final contest of the year Rayen out pointed Harding 14½-5½.

The golf team's attack was spearheaded this year by senior Tom Bufano and juniors Frank Conti, Don and Dick Matey, and Ray DeSantis. The sophomores also played very well but lacked experience.

TRIBUTE TO A COACH

"When the Great Scorer comes
To mark against your name,
He writes not that you won or lost,
But how you played the game."

These words describing the philosophy of sportsmanship give a fitting tribute to Dwight B. Lafferty. This gentleman, known and beloved at Harding for more than 25 years of coaching basketball, baseball and golf, knew and lived the rules of sportsmanship while coaching or just being himself. He not only taught his boys how to play but also that the rules of a clean game apply to life.

TRACK HAS BOOMING SEASON

During the 1956 track season the Panthers had one of the finest records in Harding's history. Under the capable guidance of Coach George Johnson, Warren was undefeated in triangular and dual meets, and the team placed comparably in state-wide competition.

The Mansfield relays opened the year for the Harding cindermen, who tied for fourth place in the pole vault.

In the first triangular meet of the season the Panthers faced two top-rated schools, Alliance and East Liverpool. Warren compiled 96¾ points to 26½ for Alliance and 24¾ for East Liverpool.

Warren sophomores out-distanced the underclassmen from Kinsman, 72 2/3 - 35 1/3. The Harding understudies again displayed speed and stamina by swamping the Liberty sophomores 92-20. The reserve squad has the potential in the next two years of being possibly an even finer team than the one this season.

Varsity trackmen returned to action and overpowered Akron St. Vincent, 94-24. Warren had little trouble in polishing off the Akron squad as the Panthers took first place in every event.

In the second and final triangular meet of the season, Warren dumped Youngstown Ursuline and Youngstawn North 68½, 50½ and 31 respectively.

The Panthers chalked-up 10½ points in the Muskingum relays to finish eighth in the meet.

The Northeastern Ohio meet at Salem saw Warren gain seven points and tenth place. John Hlaudy sparked the squad in both the Muskingum and N. E. O. events by taking first place in the pole vault.

Through the efforts of Hlaudy, a diligent and spirited athlete, Warren was able to boast a state champion in the pole vault. Hlaudy captured the crown with a jump of 12' 8" in the state meet at Columbus.

Although several tracksters received more credit than others, the record was successful because of the cooperative and determined attitude of the entire team.

AUTOGRAPH TIME

SENIORS

Soon the books and homework will be laid aside, and the graduating class of 1957 will take its place on the threshold of the future. Tradition was broken for the first time in many years when the senior homeroom was disbanded. Small homerooms were necessary in order to accommodate the first combined senior class. For some students graduation is the end of the pursuit of knowledge, and the beginning of a career. They will take their place in the nation, places for which Harding has prepared them. Others will further their education in colleges across the country with the knowledge that they are ready to meet the requirements that their chosen profession demands. Looking forward to what lies ahead, the members of the 1957 graduating class leave, taking with them wonderful memories of their years at Harding.

REAR—Mr. Swart, W. Len, R. Spencer, K. Larson, R. Burkett, R. Smith, F. Follmeyer, J. Smith, P. Liberatore, A. Olejnik, Miss Kelly.

AUGUST CLASS

"Teach us to do the harder right, instead of the easier wrong", was the motto chosen by students who completed their high school credits in August, 1956. The graduation exercises were held in the A Cappella room under the supervision of Louis Swart, Principal of summer school, and Kathleen Kelly, class sponsor.

SENIOR SPONSORS

The class of 1957 has had a quintet of sponsors whose main concern has been the success of the class.

Appointed in tenth grade, they have worked tirelessly these three years helping to make all class activities profitable and successful. Football programs and dances are a few of the projects that were part of the money-making activities during the junior year.

Sponsoring the first combined class to graduate was not an easy job. Many meetings and discussions were necessary in order to achieve the desired results. They were always willing to listen to suggestions and to give advice when asked to do so. Aside from all the worries that accompany sponsorship, they also carried on their regular classroom work.

Senior year brought with it various problems such as announcements, caps and gowns, and graduation. Their ceaseless effort has ben appreciated by the entire class. Without them the class could not have accomplished all the many things that were necessary to make a successful senior year. A large vote of thanks is a small substitute for the helpful and capable sponsors of the senior class.

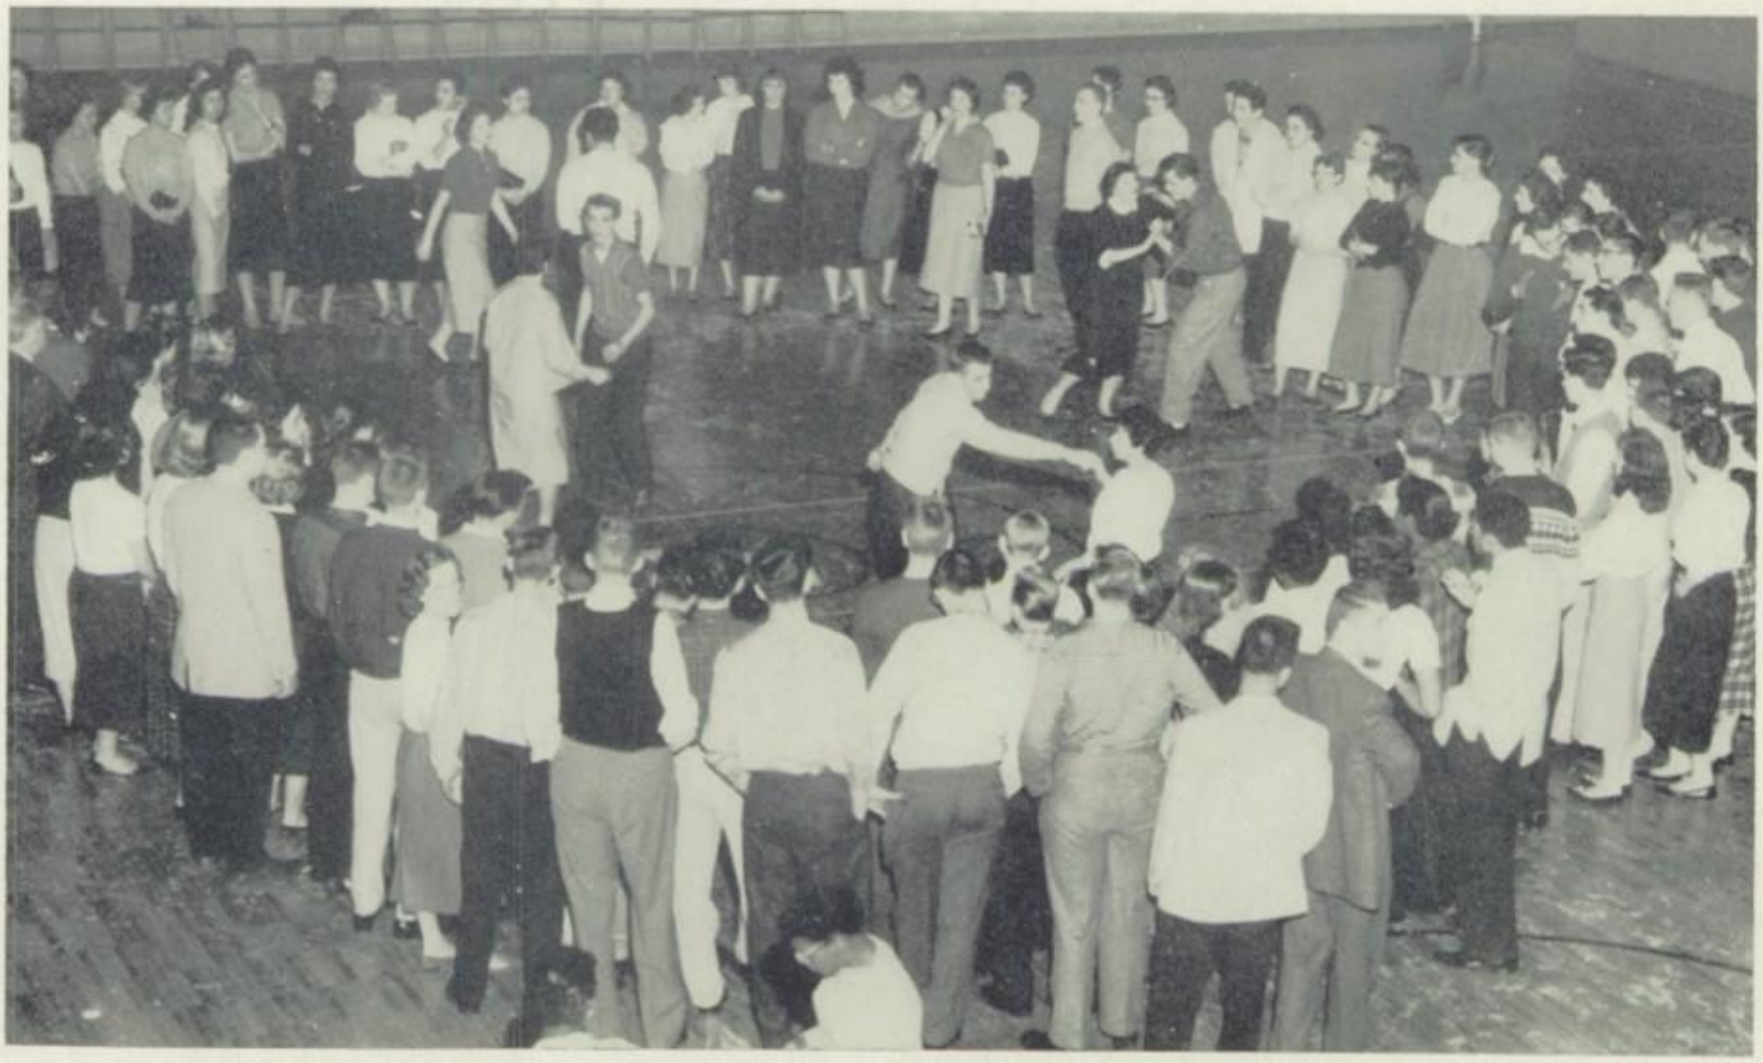
TIME OUT FOR FUN

An informal evening provided various forms of entertainment at the senior party. Some played ping-pong while others square danced. Disc jockeys from the class were chosen to provide music, and an hour-long floor show added that extra spark needed for a perfect event.



Dancing ability of the senior class was displayed in the jitterbug contest, a highlight of the entertainment.

Members of the junior class helped by checking and later served refreshments.

UNDERCLASSES

Business as well as pleasure is enjoyed by sophomores and juniors as they face inspiring experiences through their high school years. The beginning of the year is always an important time, because class officers must be elected and Student Council representatives chosen. A party is given for tenth graders to help them become better acquainted with their classmates from the other junior highs. Selling football programs is one of the main interests of the juniors in the fall. They helped the Warren merchants in the Christmas parade. Also a big item on their schedule is the annual Junior Mix. As their last project of the year, the juniors sponsor a spring festival.

"Program, Sir?" This familiar question can be heard during football season as the juniors take on the responsibility of selling programs. Profits will be used to help defray the costs of their senior activities.

Five little girls crooning "You Belong To Me" to their adorable stuffed animals appear on the same bill with Liberace (not the original, of course), some real "pro" warblers and a hot trumpet at the floor show for the annual Junior Mix.

A BIG SCHOOL REQUIRES MUCH CARE

When the heat needs to be turned up or the rooms have to be straightened, the custodians of our high school are always ready to go to work. Because of the increase in size of the school, their job has been made more extensive. As important as the custodians, are the women who work in the cafeteria, which was remodeled during the summer. Now it is much easier to prepare and serve meals for the hundreds that eat here each day.

Walter Trimbath (right) demonstrates floor equipment to the other custodians.

REAR—P. Butler, C. Roper, J. Gouldthorpe, B. Lampson, S. Burnett, C. Lane.
FRONT—A. Barry, B. McCann, W. Trimbath.

Mrs. Hill, cafeteria director, and her helpers, Mrs. E. Irey, Mrs. E. DeSantis, Mrs. L. Beck, and Mrs. H. Cates enjoy working with the equipment in the remodeled cafeteria. Mrs. M. D'Amico was not present.

Business leaders are always ready to lend a helping hand in our progressive civic-minded community. Many advertisers have supported our yearbook since its early stages, while as commerce developed in Warren, several new businessmen have joined our list of patrons. These advertisers are the backbone of many projects, and the Echoes staff, along with its subscribers, appreciate their contribution to the success of the high school undertaking.
